The "Give A Damn" ticket, Presidential and Vice Presidential candidates Mark Van Clevan (left), and Mike Weihler (right), is pictured here. Van Clevan has been the Psi College representative for the Student Representative Council. Weihler, has had no experience in student government, said he ran because he was "fed up".

Laurie Snyder, actively involved in student activities all year in several capacities, decided to run because, "I feel I can serve efficiently and effectively the students' wishes for better student government." She added, "In speaking with many students this past week the consensus seemed to be that a select group of people was running student government. I know it's not true - I'll try to keep students informed and involved as they've never been before."

"It's time we started dealing with people as individuals, not as masses . . ." has been the campaign slogan for Nick Sebastian, the other half of the Sebastian-Grunewold coalition. He advocates starting a cooperation program between students and faculty members for success in student services, also wants to push for a pass-fail option for students in courses outside their major.

Nancy Grunewold, ASB Vice Presidential candidate, has served student government for two quarters, as the Omega College representative, and has been a major factor in bringing about the Book Exchange program. "We want to show what student government can do for the students," she said. She is on the Sebastian-Grunewold ticket.

ASB executive elections start today

Elections for Associated Student Body President and Vice President are being held today and tomorrow in the J, K and M Bldgs. Polling hours are from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Three students from Psi Cluster, Nick Sebastian, Laurie Snyder and Mark Van Clevan are vying for the top spot in student government.

Nancy Grunewold from Omega and Mike Weihler from Psi are the vice presidential candidates.

There weren't any candidates for the office of student comptroller. The feeling among the runners is that an accounting or computer science major should be drafted for the summer months and possibly a general election could be held in the fall.

Campaigning has been in progress since Tuesday morning, with the themes ranging from "Give A Damn" to "I can't promise anything, but I'll try my best," to "This job is people." The five hopefuls have been available in the Campus Center and have gone to as many classes as they could under the short notice given to instructors.

Sebastian-Grunewold and Van Clevan-Weihler have formed coalition election tickets, but Miss Snyder has remained independent.

Weihler, Snyder and Sebastian are all Human Services majors. Van Clevan is a Police Science major, and Miss Grunewold is majoring in Special Education.

Each candidate felt that they could handle the time-consuming positions, though they will continue as full-time students.

Van Clevan, 20, plans to enroll in 13 credit hours per quarter, and maintain his 2.90 Grade Point Average. Weihler, 24, said that although he had over 100 quarter hours and has a 3.16 GPA, he has to obtain more credits at the two year level in his major.

Miss Snyder, 21, commented that she will have at least a 13 credit hour load.

Sebastian, 25, will arrange his schedule so that it is flexible, and to do this he will have classes in the summer as well as in the fall, winter and spring.

"It's necessary if things want to get done," he said.

Miss Grunewold, 19, said that she was fully aware of how much time it will take, and that she was prepared to handle the responsibilities.

The one basic issue that has cropped up in the campaign has been ways to fight student apathy at DuPage.

"It's time for Student Government to relate to the students," said Weihler.

Some of the practical schemes the VanClevan-Weihler ticket proposes are job descriptions and pictures of the Student Representative Council members; and the furthering of Clean Up and Beautification campaigns; the Student Loan and Aid programs; and support for the traditions of College of DuPage.

Van Clevan will be the administrator, and Weihler will be the "peoples' man," they said. "We'll be a full-service organization."

"We're running on the contention that we represent the students," said Miss Grunewold, who feels that this year's administration has been a "scape goat" for the apathy on campus.

"Students would be involved if they knew what was going on," she said.

Sebastian agreed, saying that he will push for more night student participation, because it's just as much their money as anyone else's.

Sebastian-Grunewold feel that they can work within the system, and not against it.

Also running for President is Laurie Snyder. She has been actively involved in Student Activities all year, has been a member of the Representative Assembly, and wrote the Happenings column for The Courier.

Miss Snyder was the only student member of the committee formed to name college buildings. She has also been on the Student Activity planning board for Psi cluster, helped draft teacher evaluation, and has been publicity chairman for the Program Board since March.

Graduation to draw big crowd

Dr. Carl Lambert, chairman of the College of DuPage Graduation Committee, said Tuesday night that he expects both the Gym and the Convocation Center to be full for commencement ceremonies, June 7. The crowd should be about 2,000 he said.

Closed circuit television will carry the program to the Convocation Center.

Pastor Larry Smith of the Glen

Briar Baptist Church will give the invocation after the College of DuPage Band plays the processional.

The Concert Choir will then sing "Choose Something Like a Star" by Randall Thompson.

Dr. Rodney Berg, College of DuPage President, will then introduce the stage party after which John Hrubec, Associated Student Body President, will speaking. Following Hrubec the key speaker of the evening, Georgia State Representative Julian Bond, will be presented. Bond has not revealed the content of the address as yet. Following Bond's address, Dr. John Anthony, vice president, programs, will present the graduating class to Dr Berg for presentation of diplomas.

Ottoson named best track coach

Ron Ottoson, CD track coach, was named Region IV Track Coach of The Year by other track coaches in the region at the NJCAA national meet at Mesa, Ariz., last week.

The award makes Ottoson a member of the international coaches. He is now under consideration as a possible coach at the University Games to be held in Europe next summer.

"It's always a great honor to be voted to receive an award, but nothing beats having peers elect you," Ottoson said.

Ottoson came to DuPage from Oak Park High School four years ago. He has since then led DuPage to four Region IV titles and numerous invitational championships.

This year under his coaching the Chaparrals won the N4C title in cross-country, indoor and outdoor track. The harriers also captured the Region and Milwaukee Tech invitational.

Ottoson is condered by many to be the top junior college coach in the state and has written articles on community college track.

Trees memorialize Kent State dead

By Mark Lickteig

Two years ago four students died under National Guard gunfire at Kent State University. A week after the shooting College of DuPage students donated money for, and planted four trees to honor the dead. The trees were planted in the field directly east of the faculty parking lot.

Last week John Tana, a former DuPage student who helped plant the trees, erected a memorial by the trees to "make people aware that students did something. We planted living trees to symbolize life — that the memory of the students who died (at Kent State) will live on," Tana said.

He said that at the time "some students got together and dug some graves just east of the K building and the next day the school came in with bull dozers and leveled it off. COD is a very conservative school — all of a sudden they decide to landscape."

Tana said that he talked to Tripp Throckmorton, student activities adviser, who told him the trees would be moved to the permanent campus in approximately six months. He is pushing for a memorial to be erected at that time, but it would depend largely on the students who Tana considers indifferent.

He stressed that students have a responsibility to keep the project alive. Tana wants to construct a sign to erect by the trees when he gets the time.

Tana would also like to see two more trees planted in memory of two students killed two days later that same year at Jackson State.

As a CD Security Guard threatens "innocent looking" Mike Hubly, COUNIER Editor, not to go swimming in the M Building lagoon, dripping wet COUNIER Editor Mary Gabel looks on with a chuckle.

TO THE 1972 COLLEGE GRADUATES:

When I think of what it means to be graduating from college in today's world, I reflect sometimes on the story that is told of an old and wise teacher in ancient Greece. It is said that there was no question which the teacher could not answer and nothing which he could not understand. Finally, one student thought of a way to discredit his teacher's wisdom.

The student planned to conceal a bird in his hands. He would ask the old man to guess what he was holding and, if he guessed a bird, the boy would ask whether it was dead or alive. Should the old man guess dead, the boy would let the bird fly away. But, if the wise man guessed the bird was alive, the boy would rush out its life and open his hands to reveal a dead bird. And so it happened, until the boy asked, "Is the bird alive or dead?" The old man replied, "My son, the answer to that question is in your hands."

Today the future of this Nation surely rests in your hands. Whether the promise of progress and prosperity will be realized, whether democracy and freedom will grow, whether men will continue to be governed by human wisdom - all this, and more, rests in your hands.

You are the best educated generation in our history. What will you do with your knowledge and ideas? How fully will you engage your mind and will and spirit in helping to make America an even better place to live?

I am hopeful that you will use your talents and knowledge to help make our Nation's ideals a reality. Now is the time for a future of peace, for more responsive government, for equal opportunity for all. I congratulate you on what you have finished and look forward with hope toward what you can now begin to accomplish.

Richard Nixon

Letters

Dear Editor,

Due to the fact that this is the last issue of the Courier, I would like to take this opportunity to wish all those who are graduating the very best of luck.

I have been fortunate enough to get to know some of you, but many of you, I regret, I've never met.

To the Student Government people that I have worked with this year, my most sincere congratulations. I think that you have finally started an effective Student Government at the College of DuPage.

To Tom Schmidt, Tom DeBrun, Doug Schauer, Nancy White, and Patti Murphy.....thanks for keeping the act together.

To the faculty and administrators who have been so cooperative (they know who they are and are too numerous to list individually) thank you for your sincere friendship.

It has been a very rewarding pleasure working and meeting with all of you. I have learned many things this year that I could have never learned out of a textbook.

We have been through a lot this year and the pseudo-friends have dropped to the wayside, but most of the "true" friends are still hanging on. To those people, God Bless...., and thank you for letting me know you.

Sincerely,
John R. Hrubec Jr
President, Associated Student Body

Talking transfer

By Don Dame

Recently we received a follow-up study from the University of Illinois about our former students who transferred to the University of Illinois. The report was concerned with the academic status of our former students at the end of the fall semester, 1971.

The average University of Illinois grade point average (GPA) for students from the College of DuPage after the fall semester was 3.08 (based on a 4.0 scale). This is in comparison to a 2.99 average GPA for all other community college transfers at the University of Illinois and an average GPA of 2.94 for native students (students who had started at the University of Illinois and were juniors during the fall semester, 1971).

The 3.08 average GPA for our former students is much higher than the average GPA of 2.55 reported by the University of Illinois for the 1970-71 academic year. A further contrast is noted when one compares the percentage of our students on probation. For the 1970-71 academic year, 47 percent of our former students were on probation but at the end of the fall semester, 1971, all of our students were on clear status or in good standing.

Thomas Dyba, Dean of Admissions and Records at Illinois Benedictine College, reports that the thirty-four (34) former College of DuPage students now enrolled at IBC earned an average GPA of about 2.7. Eight of our former students have qualified for the Dean's Honor List with averages of 3.2 or better on a 4.0 scale, including two students with straight A (4.0) averages.

Fields retiring from education

Homer Fields, economics instructor at College of DuPage since its founding, and an educator for 40 years, was honored at a recognition dinner Tuesday night at the Midwest Country Club in Oak Brook.

As an educator, Fields has taught in a variety of schools ranging from the old one room classroom to the college level.

Letters, Letters Fond memories and two walleye

To the Editor:

There has been much talk the past two years about veterans on campus, the Vets Club in particular. It has been argued that the Vets are rowdy and irresponsible. Also that they have too much power in student affairs.

It is true that the Vets Club is the most powerful group at CD. This is because the Vets have their stuff together and are very active. As a group they have been the most consistent supporter of the football and basketball teams. They have sponsored benefit sporting events. They have sponsored blood drives. They give a yearly scholarship. Can the Vets Club be condemned for supporting the college?

It is also true that Vets Club members hold positions of authority within the college community. But leadership is a trait many vets display. So is it strange to find them in leadership roles?

We, the Vets Club members, feel we have much to contribute to life at College of DuPage. If we are to be judged, please judge fairly.

Doug Schauer
Vets Club Member

To the Editor:

We are running on the platform of "Give a Damn" and we certainly hope the student body does. There will never be a good government unless the students become active in their representative body.

There is a definite need in this school for the students voice to be heard; voting is one way, but it goes beyond that; the need continues in the form of communication needed between the student and their representatives.

We hope that no matter who is elected they will try to get the students more involved with the school. Most of all we hope they have started this involvement by voting June 1 and 2 for the candidates of their choice.

Sincerely,
Mark Van Cleven
Mike Weihler

SUMMER HOURS 10:30 to 4:00
For Research and

June 5 marks the arrival of "P.T." at the bookstore. "P.T." is a sideshow in portfolio form, a photographic display of wonders put together for your amusement and edification by a concerned group of students. Inside are eleven exhibits, each one a personal comment on the human condition by a College of DuPage student. Each photograph is like a fun house mirror, carefully constructed to provide the viewer with a reflection of himself, not as he usually sees it, but as the creator of the mirror wants him to see it.

A year in the making, at a cost of thousands, "P.T." is undoubtedly the most significant work of its kind to come out of C.O.D. Its editors have gleaned the most revealing images from thousands of photos submitted and had them reproduced by the finest and costliest methods known. The result is not only a vital social commentary, but a fine work of art of a caliber rarely seen in student work.

All of the claims made above can be checked and proven on June 5 when "P.T." goes on sale for the price of $1.50, a fraction of its production cost. "P.T." is being distributed at substantial loss because the people involved in it feel that it is such an important and revealing work that it should be available to everyone. Whether you buy it as the bargain of the year in photographic art or as the most incisive human commentary to come out of C.O.D., "P.T." is a work that no one should pass up. Anyone who has ever loved, laughed, or felt lonely will appreciate "P.T."

Twenty-one students and faculty returned from their four-day trip to Froelich's lodge near Sayner, Wis., without many fish but with many fond memories.

Instructor Herb Salberg, who taught the class in angling, claimed the fish weren't biting because the temperature was just right for the fish to spawn.

However, Tom Stafford, Downers Grove, managed to catch two four-pound wall-eyed pike, the biggest landed.

The fishermen used many of the techniques learned in Salberg's class. They were out every morning by 5:30 and some even tried fishing at midnight.

After the trip the group agreed to take another trip in September before the school year begins.
