Security force here may get police powers

By Rich Schneider

The granting of police powers to the college security force may be considered by the board of trustees at its next meeting, Feb. 14.

John Paris, vice president, operations, has recommended to Dr. Rodney Berg, college president, that the board should pass a resolution to that effect.

The security men would then have all powers possessed by policemen in cities and sheriffs in counties, said Paris, including the power to make arrests.

Paris said that the college, with its enrollment of some 9,000 students, has the problems of a small city. The authority of the security men does not presently allow them to cope with their duties, he said.

Paris said last year there were 21 thefts of college property with a valuation of more than $4,000, some 69 reported thefts of private property with a valuation of over $6,700, and 26 incidents of trespass.

Paris said that C/D has now reached a point where the authority of the security force should be increased. Security men can only make civil arrests, Paris said. They don't even have the authority to direct traffic on Lambert Road, he said.

Paris said the authority to grant security men police powers was given to junior colleges by the Illinois legislature in September, 1969. The Illinois Junior College Act was amended to permit boards of trustees to grant police powers to members of the security department.

When the law was passed, Paris said, there was no need here to grant police powers to the security force. Because annexation of the college has been in the works for the past year, the college wanted to wait and see what the final agreement was before granting police powers.

Paris said that if the board passes a resolution granting police powers, all members of the force would be required to attend a police training institute, run by the state government. It would be necessary, he said, for each member to successfully complete the training course.

Paris said C/D is now part of Glen Ellyn, but that it would be a good idea for the college to take care of itself on security measures. He said the college wanted well-trained people who understood the institution. The security force, he said, would be responsible to the board of trustees.

Paris said Glen Ellyn police would like to have C/D's security force patrol the campus. They think C/D men know the situation best, he said.

College to aid Glen Ellyn in juvenile counseling

A plan to counsel juvenile offenders instead of letting the courts handle them was recommended by the college's human services program Jan. 30 to the Social Service Committee of Glen Ellyn.

Janet Willenburg, committee chairwoman, said the committee had requested plans from a number of schools on how they could work with juvenile offenders, in connection with Glen Ellyn police. She said neither the police nor the committee wanted the courts to handle all juvenile offenders.

Robert Bollendorf, instructor, human services; Joe Nelson, and Shirley Flaherty, both students, recommended to the committee that Glen Ellyn hire a professional counselor and two human service students, who have an associate degree to work with juveniles.

Bollendorf said people with a two year degree, working under a professional counselor, have the knowledge and the skills to work with people.

Bollendorf said a community college has a mandate from the state to serve the community. He said he wanted to let the people of Glen Ellyn know that C/D is here to serve them.

Ms. Willenburg, committee chairwoman, said the Social Service Committee has not decided which of the suggested plans will be adopted. However, the services of C/D faculty and students will be used, she said.

Bargain rates for 'One Flew'

A reduced rate is being offered to C/D students for the Thursday, Feb. 26, performance of One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest, starring James Farentino, at the Arlington Park Theatre.

The play is based on the Ken Kesey novel and has been running in New York for more than a year. The Arlington Park Production is being held over for three extra weeks.

The reduced rate will allow C/D students to purchase $5 tickets for $3. Reservations can be made by seeing Allan Carter, J120-G, ext. 348. No reservations will be accepted after Feb. 16.

HOLIDAY MONDAY

Classes will not be held Monday, Feb. 12, in observance of President Lincoln's birthday, a legal holiday. Classes will resume, however, Tuesday, Feb. 13.

Petition circulates

Ms. Groenewold asked to resign

By Gene Van Son

A petition is being circulated among Representative Council members, asking for the resignation of Nancy Groenewold, ASB vice-president, it was learned Tuesday.

The petition states simply that "We the undersigned members of the Student Representative Council request the immediate resignation of Nancy Groenewold, A.S.B. Vice-President." This request is followed by a list of three reasons for the action being taken, each with at least two subsections.

"I'm not going to defend myself because it's not true. It's absurd," said Miss Groenewold, in answer to the petition's charges of failure to carry out assigned duties.

As of Wednesday night, when The Courier was going to press, the petition contained the signatures of seven council members; one more than necessary to over-ride a presidential veto.

According to one student government representative, the petition was to be presented to the Representative Council today at 10 a.m.

When asked the probable procedure by which student government would take action on the petition, Miss Groenewold replied, "It's not up to them (the Representative Council) to decide. It's up to the Executive Board."

The Executive Board, comprised of Miss Goenewold; Nick Sebastian, ASB president; and Rick Tabisz, comptroller, would presumably discuss the validity of the charges. According to the ASB Constitution though, the president has the final say in the acceptance or rejection of the petition.

Should the president accept the petition, he would simply affix his name to the document, thereby forcing Miss Groenewold to resign. Should he reject it though, the document would go back to the council with his objections or suggestions.

According to the constitution, "The Representative Council may at that time over-ride the president's objection with a two-thirds vote of the members present at the meeting."

In general Miss Groenewold is charged with, "1. Not fulfilling obligations to (the) Student Body. 2. Complete lack of organization of (the) Representative Council. 3. Failure to follow through on matters which are her responsibility."

Janitor charged with theft here

Douglas G. Toquinto, a C/D custodian, was arrested Feb. 1 for the theft of $1600 from the college's business office Jan. 30.

That was 11 days after he started working here, according to Elmer Rosin, head of security.

Toquinto, 24, of Wheaton, Ill., is charged with theft in excess of $150, a felony offense. He is being held in the DuPage county jail in lieu of bond. The preliminary hearing date has not been set.

Rosin said this is the largest currency theft at C/D. The money was recovered.

Patricia Kurriger, art instructor, became the first woman faculty member at College of DuPage to hold a Ph.D. Dr. Kurriger was awarded the degree Sunday from Loyola University. She began work on it in 1968. Art, she says, teaches people to "see" better and has a humanizing effect.

DELAY APPOINTMENT

The decision to name a Delta Provost has been delayed until next week.

Dr. Rodney Berg, college president, is reviewing some nine applicants for the position vacated by William Gooch, now director of college relations.

Midquarter blues? Meet 'over 30-credit gang'

By Georgene Arthur

If, as winter drags on, you are beginning to feel overloaded with homework, you might consider the plight of three students who are each carrying 30 hours or more here this quarter.

They are George Ruvarac, with 38 hours, Elmer Sundstrom, with 33 hours and Joe Patterson, 30 hours.

How do they manage to carry this incredible class load? According to Ruvarac, he tries to use every bit of his time efficiently. He sets a study plan in his mind and asks himself, "What will I need today?", studies it, and finishes every subject that he has to study, often working until 1 or 2 a.m.

Ruvarac, 47, has been attending C/D for about a year-and-a-half. Two years ago he has a radical laryngectomy which left him unable to talk. It also finished his career as a stone mason because he found he was no longer able to lift the heavy stones after his surgery.

With the aid of a Jesuit priest from Loyola University in Maywood, Ruvarac was able to learn to talk again. He is unusual in that he has no mechanical device which helps him speak.

After his surgery, his wife decided to go to work. She enrolled in C/D in a shorthand refresher course. Since Ruvarac had to drive her to school, he decided to take a class to occupy his time while Mrs. Ruvarac was in class. Mrs. Ruvarac left school to take a job as an international correspondent for Lions International. Ruvarac stayed to become a full time student. He now has accumulated more than 100 quarter hours.

Ruvarac is carrying a double major, data processing and accounting. He plans to transfer to Northern Illinois University next year to get his degree.

Ruvarac is the father of 10 children, six of whom still live at home.

He is also the publicity chairman of the newly formed Accounting Club, and is a camera addict.

For Elmer Sundstrom, who carries 33 hours, discipline, too, is the word. He sets himself a schedule, telling himself, "This is what I am going to do and this is when I'm going to do it." He tries to get all his homework done before he leaves school each day.

Twelve of his 33 hours are karate, which is one way he tries to keep fit. Sundstrom plans to become a criminal lawyer and hopes to finish up at either Notre Dame or University of Illinois.

As part of his political science course, he is doing a study of penology and prison reform, with the "hard core" inmate being his particular focus.

Joe Patterson gets 18 hours credit for the 40 to 50 hours he spends each week working at the West Side Veterans' Administration Hospital in Chicago. The rest of the hours are "on campus."

Patterson was a psychology major, but this year he switched to pre-med and will become a psychiatrist. After working at the VA Hospital for several years as a psychologist, he found the job had too many limitations.

Patterson said he thinks a psychiatrist has more lee-way in treating patients. He has been working in the drug program at the VA hospital and before that was the chief therapist in the Faces program at Morton Grove.

Patterson attended George Williams College last quarter, but returned to C/D this quarter because he liked the teachers and teaching methods here better.

Patterson will transfer to Southern Illinois University in the fall where he will enter medical school. He will go on a new three-year-plan which waives internship and will go directly from medical school into residency.

Patterson said he hopes to be able to get a government grant and will probably have to spend several years working for the government in return.

Do these men feel overloaded with studies? Only Sundstrom said he did and probably would not carry such a heavy load next quarter.

Tom Cox, C/D student, has been named winner of the $150 Veteran's Club scholarship. Cox, a flanker on the varsity football team, was one of 14 applicants for the award. He had a 3.80 GPA for the fall quarter.

Faculty work load may be re-assessed

By Bob Turffs

Faculty responsibilities were discussed at Friday's Educational Program Administrators Meeting.

James Heinselman, dean of instruction, submitted a proposal on assignments.

"Assignments for teaching should total 25 to 30 hours per week with appropriate committee assignments for those with less than 30 hours," he said.

"A faculty member is expected to devote 40 hours a week to C/D," he continued. "The 40 hours are divided into teaching, advising, conference time and committee work. Conference and advising time take up 10 hours of the work week leaving 30 hours per week for teaching and committee work."

Teaching time is divided into preparation, presentation and evaluation. Presentation is the amount of time an instructor spends in class. The combination of preparation and evaluation time is equal to the number of credit hours the instructor is teaching, continued Heinselman.

He gave this example of the application of the division of teaching time: If an instructor has three different five-hour lecture courses, he is allowed 7.5 hours for preparation, 15 hours for presentation and 7.5 hours for evaluation. This load gives the instructor the maximum 30 hour teaching assignment.

An exception to this division of teaching time, said Heinselman, is if an instructor had three different sections of the same five hour course. The instructor would be granted 15 hours for presentation and 7.5 for evaluation, but only 2.5 for preparation, since he would only be preparing for one course.

"Assignment practices must include consideration of the number of credit hours generated and that credit hours for each individual faculty member should reach a minimum of 80 pct. of the expected credit hours per faculty member," he said.

"From the assessments we are presently getting about faculty members, I get the idea that all 250 are doing a wonderful job emulating Socrates," said Dr.

John Anthony, vice president, would help set up faculty development programs to help faculty achieve their goals in the following year, he said.

Anthony said one possibility for faculty assessment is to have individual faculty members meet with their provosts or members of the administration at the beginning of the year and set up goals. They would meet again at the end of the year to discuss their achievement of the goals. This

Several of the administrators present felt that if a faculty member's personal assessment of his achievements were directly related to issues like tenure it may not be possible to get a completely honest response.

Survey analyzed

Abundant confusion in student activities

By Richard Schneider

Question 14 of the Student Activities survey of Dec. 4 was: How much time do you spend in the student center? Two written replies were, I didn't know we had one."

That many students are unaware of student activities was one conclusion of a report that reviewed statistical data gathered in the survey. Student Activities and Institutional Research, LRC, received answers given by 378 students.

Ron Nilsson, intern in the Student Activities office, said another conclusion of the report was that students are confused by various popular names given to facilities such as the student center or campus center or student lounge.

Nilsson said, based on the statistical data of the survey, that students are confused about the concept of clusters. He said 18 per cent of those students surveyed indicated they identify with more than one cluster. Some 24 per cent, he said, responded that they didn't belong to a cluster which, Nilsson said, is not possible.

Reviewing the results of the survey, Nilsson said that 84 per cent never attend athletic events. More than 60 per cent never attend events in the back room Coffee House. He pointed out that 15 per cent didn't know there were events being held there.

Eighty four per cent of the students in the survey, Nilsson said, indicated they did not attend Homecoming. However, he said, 71 per cent said Homecoming should continue.

Nilsson said the Student Activities office has increased its efforts to advertise student activities. He said more information about events is being put out more frequently. He said they are also making a greater effort to reach students through radio commercials, which had not been done before.

Need petition to graduate

If you plan to obtain your associate degree or certificate and graduate from College of DuPage this coming June, the time is here to obtain and file your petition for a degree or certificate. Petitions can be picked up in the Office of Admissions, K106, and should be submitted before the start of the spring quarter.

A sheet listing requirements for a C/D degree is available in the Office of Admissions as well as in the Registration Office, N-1.

You may file your petition for a degree if you will have completed at least 90 quarter hours by no later than the end of the coming summer quarter. But if you will have completed less than 75 hours by the end of this spring quarter, you are not eligible to graduate this June. This means that you may file your petition and graduate this June if you can complete your requirements by taking no more than 15 quarter hours this summer.

Phi Beta group may reactivate

Phi Theta Kappa, a national honorary society for recognizing scholarship in junior colleges, is about to reactivate the Phi Beta Chapter at College of DuPage, according to Dorothy Morgan, faculty sponsor.

The organization has a local constitution that asks for an overall cumulative grade-point average of 3.6 or better for a minimum of two quarters as a full-time student. An alternate method of qualifying is to appear twice on the President's List.

Students interested in applying for membership may attend one of two information meetings on Feb. 13 in K143 either at 11 a.m. or 3 p.m. Prospective members should bring their fall report card and other proof of their average.

If there is enough interest, officers will be elected to organize and plan a spring initiation. The cost of national membership is $10. The local dues are $1.

Forced to retire at 50

But C/D opens new career

By Rick Cross

Forced to retire at an early age after a serious heart illness, Joseph Kripp, Glen Ellyn, 50-year-old freshman student, sees College of DuPage as a beginning for a new career.

A former assistant superintendent of mails at Glen Ellyn Post Office, Kripp was forced into retirement after suffering three major heart attacks which kept him hospitalized for more than a year. His physician placed strong restrictions on his work limitations. Kripp couldn't work the long hours and do the lifting that was required so he had to quit.

While hobbies, such as reading and gardening, can be entertaining at times, they couldn't satisfy the void that retirement had created, he said. "You get awfully stale lying around the house," Kripp said. "I liked the idea of going back to school. Before World War II I attended Boston U. and Northwestern U. and gained 25 credits. I knew going back to school would take a good effort after being away so long."

With the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation helping to pay the tuition as a full-time student, Kripp plans to major in accounting. After graduating he plans to transfer to either the U. of I. or NIU. After that he is thinking in terms of opening an accounting firm and working for himself.

Asked what has changed the most about college, he replied, "The attitude of the teachers toward the student has changed quite a bit. They seem to be more co-operative and helpful than they were. The students themselves are quite similar except the hair style today is longer.

"I find the atmosphere here very stimulating. I'm enjoying being a student again even though studying is more difficult than it used to be."

Kripp is happy to be back on his feet again and it makes him feel good to see others physically less fortunate doing the same.

"Everyone disabled — for their own benefit — should rehabilitate themselves and become saleable. They should take their greatest asset and build on it," he said.

Kripp is originally from the East Coast. He moved to Glen Ellyn 18 years ago. He is married and has three children and one grandchild.

Gerry Grossman, above, singer, guitarist and comic, will perform at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 21, in the Coffee House. Grossman, a songwriter, claims that he can perform 95 per cent of all pop songs recorded since 1955. He appeals to the musical and humorous tastes of each audience. Based in Chicago, Grossman has appeared at numerous clubs throughout the Midwest. He also tours colleges all over the country.

Craft workshop expands demonstration schedule

The Community Crafts Workshop has expanded its program of audience participation craft demonstrations.

Workshops, open to all area residents, are scheduled Monday mornings and Thursday afternoons in addition to the regular Wednesday afternoon demonstrations.

A leather-working demonstration will be conducted Mondays at 9 a.m. in Room 6 of N-5 by Jim Henzie of Addison.

Every Thursday from 1 to 3 p.m. a leather working demonstration will be held in J105, conducted by Greg Wolf.

Willard Smith, art instructor, will be available Thursday mornings from 9 to 10 a.m. in N-5 to assist persons wishing to work in a particular craft.

On Feb. 14 at 1 p.m., Smith will demonstrate relief printing in J105. At the same time Carol Mockler will demonstrate fish and vegetable printing.

On Feb. 15 at 9 a.m. Smith will demonstrate wood carving in N-5 room 6.

Feb. 16 at 9:30 a.m., Jacob Pollari will demonstrate creative brass tooling in room J141.

No Second Chance

Upon your reading of this editorial a decision may or may not have already been reached regarding the petition asking for Nancy Groenewold's resignation. In either case, it might be wise to examine the events leading up to the petition.

The Representative Council, one might recall, was elected last December. Those representatives elected, though, had actually been serving on the council since October — by special appointment from Miss Groenewold. Having been the choice of her constituents, Miss Groenewold took it upon herself to bypass those constituents and appoint her own council; a council which, under the constitution, should have been duly elected.

With a little help, Miss Groenewold realized her mistake and elections were finally held. True, the same people whom she had appointed had been elected, but, they had been elected.

Now, two months later, those same people Miss Groenewold had once appointed are asking for her resignation. By her appointment, illegal as it may have been, Miss Groenewold indicated her faith in these people to do their job. Now she states their charges are absurd. Why this sudden loss of faith in their abilities?

According to the ASB Constitution, the duties of the vice-president are mainly those of organizing and presiding over Representative Council meetings. Since the council has not once been able to call a quorum it would seem that Miss Groenewold has indeed been derelict in her duties.

Miss Groenewold has stated that it is not her fault if the representatives don't show up for the council meetings. She is overlooking one thing: it's her job, for which she is salaried, to see that the council does its job. If the council is not doing its job then Miss Groenewold is not doing hers.

Although my opinion will carry no weight in the final decision, I feel that the charges in the petition are just. For those reasons stated here and in the petition, I feel that Miss Groenewold should be replaced by someone who can better appreciate the responsibilities of the position.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

An editorial in the Jan. 25 Courier referring to the Vietnam ceasefire stated: "For a time at least, an era of war is over."

I disagree. Although it's a relief to finally see the end of the bitter and (as the editorial stated) senseless conflict in Vietnam, it is continually discouraging to see the continuation of war in Laos and Cambodia; it is discouraging to view the blood and bitterness in Ireland, the hate that pervades the Middle East, the racial and economic oppression operating in the U.S., and most of all the lurking violence of America's massive standing army.

It is unrealistic to expect "an era of peace" when a military that enforces the will of a people who comprise 6 pct. of the world's population and use 34 pct. of the world's resources (New Republic, Dec. 16, '72, pg. 4) roams the earth protecting our representatives of "peace, freedom and justice" (i.e., Standard Oil, Kennecott Copper, etc., etc.)! It seems unreasonable to me to believe that peace is at hand while the Third World is still getting ripped-off. The conflict brewing in the Philippines — whether or not it will be squashed by Marcos before it becomes full-fledged — is an example of the "era of war" we haven't overcome. Although it had captured the center of attention, Vietnam was only an accompanying symptom of American foreign policy. The end of the war will not be transitional unless a greater change occurs in the conscience of our leaders. Obviously it has brought many changes, but not an era of peace — not yet.

Peace is not waged with B-52s in Thailand nor ICBM's and ABM's in North Dakota. The people who have fueled and supported the anti-war movement, responsible in large measure for the cease-fire, have a long road ahead if they desire and truly believe in a world without war.

I don't mean to distract from the joy of a cease-fire, but I feel a necessity to face the situation as it is.

To the Editor:

I would like to express my disappointment and disgust about the whole process of selecting a Provost for Delta College. I think whoever is behind this ridiculous political game should realize that more than the eight people "running for office" are involved.

A committee was formed to select candidates for the position of provost the democratic way, which was a good idea, originally, I thought it was a very democratic and fair way of selecting Delta's provost, but as time went on, I began to realize how undemocratic this system is.

After the committee was formed, they explained (via Memoes) that each applicant would be interviewed by the committee and the committee would select two of those applicants and turn those names into Dr. Berg and his staff for a final decision. The decision was to be made and announced on February 1, 1973.

Today is February 2nd and no one knows yet who the next Provost of Delta College will be. I'm beginning to think the committee was a facade so that everyone was content in thinking the provost would be selected in a democratic way.

It's time to face the fact: the decision will be made by one, and only one person, regardless of the names submitted by the committee. I don't know who made the "rules" for this game, but I wonder whether that person realizes this concerns all of us at C/D — faculty, students, and classified staff — not just Delta or the eight applicants for provost.

Q. Anyone: Realizing that religion is a touchy subject from virtually any standpoint, I would nevertheless like to make one (I feel) very valid complaint. Why is it impossible to eat a meal in the Center these days without finding yourself at the mercy of a ho-holds-barred "Jesus Freak"? If religion has to be pushed like tickets to a policeman's ball, is it fulfilling its purpose? I really feel that religion is a personal thing . . . along the lines of what you make of it."

I honestly believe that these people feel that their way of life is for everyone . . . and, without stepping on anyone's toes, if you please, isn't that a bit presumptuous? The way you relate to God, if at all, is unique, in that they are your feelings and your beliefs. Believing that your means of worship are the only means of worship, seems a little arrogant . . . I don't appreciate someone telling me that I'm going about something in the wrong way; who really does? Besides, being approached several times during one week is starting to give me a feeling somewhat akin to paranoia . . . do I look as though I need to be saved? And after all . . . who's to say that I haven't been? Thanks.

Lynn Smedley

believing Christian

A. Dear Lynn: I can only say that I agree with you too. However, we don't have a rule that prevents it. I would suggest that if you feel your personal beliefs are being violated stop into Student Activities and let us know and we'll try to get to the individual and talk with them.

Q. Our courteous Security Guards told me to call a gas station when I needed a jump to start my car . . . Serve and Protect?

C. L. Counsel

A. Dear C. L.: Last year we had this service but it turned out to be a real hassle when a few students had their batteries ruined. Our school insurance won't cover it. So there wasn't much choice for Security. The Sports Car Club, however, may offer this service.

Nick Sebastian

Q. Whatever runs the Bookstore: I know it may be expecting too much for our Literary Emphorium to procure the texts necessary for this quarter but I'm in a $50 History course which is 1/3 over. I've tried other texts, but they are not relevant to my course. Why do they hire those secret-squirrel security agents when they don't even have the right books for me to steal.

Frank Polane

A. Dear Frank: The blame may not fall on the Bookstore. Some of our faculty are extremely slow in getting their book lists up to the Bookstore. The longer they take the longer it takes to get the books.

Nick Sebastian

Q. Courier: Would it be possible to get more tables in the Student Center between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.? This is the time of the heaviest lunch load and there just aren't enough places to sit.

P.S.

A. Dear P.S.: I talked to Mr. Gibson and he said that February 15th K127 will be opening up for restaurant service. This will help your problem.

Q. JOB OPPORTUNITY BULLETIN! Here's a bitch; let's see you talk yourself out of this one. Every job that is listed in the Bulletin has been out for at least two weeks. There's no way a business is going to wait for two weeks to get a reply. So almost all jobs I've been suited for and applied for were turned down, because they were filled.

Juan Valdez

Reply to Juan Valdez (wherever you are):

Maybe an explanation as to our procedures concerning printing and distribution of the JOB OPPORTUNITY BULLETIN is in order in addition to suggestions for you, Juan, to help meet your employment needs.

Jobs that are advertised in the JOB OPPORTUNITY BULLETIN are run for one week only unless they are run longer at the specific request of the employer at the time the job is either sent to our office by mail or called in by telephone. The jobs that are seen in each Friday's Bulletin are the collection from the previous Thursday noon to the Thursday noon prior to the day the Bulletin is put out.

Another point that might interest you is that we are not protective of job openings and listings as they come in. They are immediately placed in the showcase outside K157, or in the case of an overflow, placed on the bulletin board nearest the door inside K157. They are free then to aid anyone who feels he has the qualifications or background to gain employment.

To be more specific about your complaint, if an employer lists an ad with us and that job is filled or if he has had ample applicants, he will call our office and cancel the ad so it will not appear in the Friday Bulletin. This happens very often.

In regard to your last statement concerning your being turned down after applying for numerous jobs because employers say they are filled, I encourage you to stop in and discuss your entire employment problem with me at your convenience.

Congress lags in follow-up

As many as half of C/D's students could be eligible for financial aid next year if Congress will fund the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program (BEOG), a new financial aid bill. But if Congress follows precedent, the BEOG will not become a reality.

The year 1958 and the National Defense Education Act (NDEA) marked the introduction of federal funding into higher education. Since 1958 the history of federal financial aid to education has been discolored with broken promises and unrealistic and inequitable rules.

The NDEA was instituted after the launching of the Russian Sputnik, which shocked Americans into the realization that the USA was behind in the "space race". Federal aid to higher education was needed if America was to produce the technicians needed to catch the Russians.

In 1965 the Educational Opportunity Grant was passed. Eligibility for the grant was based on the difference between a $1,000 and the parents' ability to contribute. If the parents were able to contribute $625 or more the student was not eligible.

The Economic Opportunity Grant passed in 1968 was hobbled with specific guidelines that came about in reaction to contemporary social issues. The EOG was aimed at persons "deprived culturally, educationally and economically." If a student's family had an income of more than $9,000 he was not eligible for the grant. These guidelines made the EOG unfair to persons with large families and to persons living in high cost of living areas.

In 1966 the federal government told college counselors financial aid could be promised to high school students planning to enter college in 1968. But in 1968 when the students were ready to enter college, Congress had not made the funds available.

When Congress passes a bill, it is not put into effect until an appropriations committee allocates the necessary funds. If the original piece of legislation called for 300 million dollars to be allocated, the appropriations committee can grant any amount up to the 300 million level.

Last year the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant was passed by Congress. The bill could grant a student up to $1,400 in the form of a gift. The grant is based on the family's ability to contribute to the student's education.

Although the bill has been passed, funds have not been allocated to the program. If Congress delays action until the current school year is finished, thousands of students across the country who are eligible for the aid will not have an opportunity to apply in time for the next school year.

Successful implementation of the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant is vital for thousands of potential college students. But unless pressure is exerted upon Congress the BEOG will be another broken promise.

A mechanic's view

By Jeff Tendick

(The writer is an auto mechanic attending the college. He will answer questions which may be addressed to him, care of The Courier, through intercampus mail.)

Q. A friend told me that my power windows should be opened and closed each week, or they will burn out. Is this true?

A. In most cases, power windows should be used once or twice a week to keep moisture from corroding the system. I know of many cases where power window motors were used very little, and they did corrode internally. The car makers are coming up with better moisture sealed motors for those windows but have yet to perfect them.

Q. When should my fan belts be replaced?

A. Have the car checked for this. The mechanic can tell you if you need new belts or not. There is no certain mileage you get from fan belts.

Q. I do my own car repairs, but I need something to keep nuts from coming loose after a repair. Any suggestions?

A. Use Locktite or Lock and Seal. Both are commercially available and both work. To give an example, last year the Midwest Moto-cross circuit used Locktite on their sanctioned bikes, and not one nut or bolt was lost due to failure to hold. They also are used on many private airplanes.

Q. I just bought a new car last summer and already it's starting to rust. Why? I can't blame it on salt. We haven't had that much snow.

A. Salt is not the only thing causes rust on cars.

Air pollution, in the form of nitrates and nitrites, for example, will cause rust. These can be changed to nitric acid. Nitric acid will rapidly eat the paint off a car, exposing the metal to the air. The bad part of this is that you don't know the acid is there until after it's too late. I would suggest that you wash the car at least once a week, and use a very good wax on it, to keep it from happening in other spots. I found Turtle Wax to be good, and most major brands are more than adequate.

SPECIAL MOVIE PRICE

The Hinsdale Theatre, after discussions with Allen Carter, English Instructor, is offering a special ticket price of $1 to all students with C/D I.D.'s.

The special price is available every night except Saturday.

Currently playing at the theatre are the films The Wild Child and The Green Wall. Both films are highly recommended by Carter.

Video tape stars rock band

By Gene VanSon
 What's that you say, Bunky? You're tired of listening to the same old noise in the Campus Center? You say the place needs some music to liven things up? (Sound of marching band playing "Stars and Stripes Forever.")

 Well hold your head up high, look around and get ready to listen to the music. Dry your tears and focus your eyes because the first video-taped concert (VTC) is coming to the Campus Center. (End of commercial.)

 The first, and hopefully not the last, VTC will be shown on closed circuit television in the northeast corner of the Campus Center, off and on, all day long, Friday, Feb. 8. The concert will feature a local rock group known as "The Keystones".

The VTC idea belongs to John Walton, film committee chairman who together with Jim Gustafson, media instructor, and other program board members as the crew, utilized the video-tape equipment normally used for taping basketball games and worked for seven hours in the Coffee House, Jan. 30, filming The Keystones performing three newer standards and a medley of four 50's hits.

The Keystones performed free as a favor to Walton. Their first single, Face of a Lady / My Heart My Hand, will be coming out in March on Herbie, their own label. They are currently appearing at Guppeto's and in May will be at the Yorkshire Pub.

According to Walton, if the VTC idea is well received, plans could be made by the program board to tape and broadcast concerts to the Campus Center on a somewhat regular basis. The VTC would be an innovated, added duty for the program board which now handles setting up film presentations, pop-concerts, homecoming and spring week activities.

Walton has asked that responses to the VTC idea, good or bad, be directed to the program board and placed in the Bitch Box located on the east wall of the Campus

Concert to feature harpsichord recitalist

Robert Conant, recitalist in the second College of DuPage Colloquium Series Concert Friday evening, Feb. 16, in the Convocation Center, will bring a harpsichord especially made for his use by William Dowd, of Cambridge, Mass.

Dowd is an expert in the copying of rare old instruments located in museums in Europe. This instrument is copied from a 17th century harpsichord made by Andreas Ruckers.

The harpsichord is an instrument that looks something like a piano to the uninitiated. Instead of being struck by hammers, however, the strings of the harpsichord are plucked by little fingers called "plectra". Larger instruments may have two keyboards, on which the player will have available several different quantities of sound. By playing on different keyboards with each hand, or by moving both hands from one keyboard to the other, he can create a wide variety of musical effects.

Conant and Dr. Carl Lambert, music instructor, are old musical acquaintances. When Dr. Lambert was director of the Columbia University Glee Club, Conant was curator of the Yale Collection of Old Musical Instruments. They met several times.

Tickets are now available in the Office of Student Activities. Admission is free to students, faculty and staff. General admission is $1.50.

Students urged to see advisers

Students seeking an associate degree or certificate from the College are asked to present, when they register for spring quarter classes, a program planning sheet signed by their adviser.

Anyone who is unsure whether he has declared himself as a degree-or certificate-seeking student can find out by checking with his adviser. Normally, a "U" before the Social Security number on the student's registration appointment form means that he is NOT seeking a C/D degree or certificate. A blank space before the number indicates that the student is on record as seeking a degree or certificate.

If a student wishes to change his status, his adviser can help him make the change.

Appointments with advisers may be made by contacting them personally in their offices.

Nursing Council notes

An open meeting of the Nursing Council of C/D was held Feb. 5 to discuss many topics.

The council is planning lectures to be given by various doctors from the DuPage area. Details are being worked on and progress will be announced at a later date.

Plans for publicizing National Nurses Week (March 11-16) at the college were discussed and many suggestions were given.

The nursing students were asked to indicate interest in the developmental task force of C/D, now called E.S.P., by signing their names.

The pinning ceremony traditionally given by freshmen nursing students for senior students is being planned for May 27, from 1-4 p.m. in the Convocation Center.

TALENT SCHOLARSHIPS

Governors State University is now offering 70 Talent Scholarships per year. These awards are for tuition only for students who demonstrate substantial performance and/or service in the following extra-curricular activities:

Athletics and Recreation; Creative and Performing Arts; Communication Arts; Leadership and Service.

Applications for these scholarships are available in the Office of Financial Aid, Student Employment and Placement, K157. These applications will be evaluated at Governors State University at least once per session.

HUMANITIES 111

Those curious about the status of women can research and discuss this subject when Humanities 111 is offered again spring quarter on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 11 to 12:50 for four hours credit.

Class projects include comparing and contrasting the positions of women today and yesterday, using real and fictional heroines and the concepts and theories of sociology.

Both men and women are welcome in this course. Instructors are Sharon Bradwish and Adade Wheeler.

Dupers rout IBC cagers

The College of DuPage women's basketball team easily won their opening game as they routed Illinois Benedictine College 44-17 last Saturday.

The Dupers completely dominated the contest with good shooting from the field and alert defense. The only part of the game where DuPage did not do well was at the foul line where they made just eight of 31 attempts.

Top scorers for C/D were Jackie Crescio with eight and Brooke Norman and Jan Pulchinski with seven apiece. The Dupers play their next game Friday at home against George Williams College at 7:00 p.m.

Kassner, Gaddy star

By Don Doxsie

The College of DuPage basketball team got 22 points from Mark Kassner and 20 from Rodney Gaddy as they swept past Joliet 82-73 with a strong second half Tuesday night.

Even in victory coach Dick Walters was not quite satisfied. "We weren't sharp at all tonight," explained Walters. "The layoff was probably what hurt us." The Chaparrals had not played a game for four days but they hadn't had any real competition since Jan. 27 when they lost to Lincoln 84-83. Since then they had played Morton and Prairie State, two teams which offered little resistance.

Joliet grabbed an early lead with some hot shooting. The Wolves made their first seven shots and led 14-4. Joliet continued for some time to connect on their shots consistently with many of them coming from long range. They finally cooled off however and with 4:40 remaining in the first half, DuPage jumped in front 31-30. DuPage was to hold the lead for the rest of the game although their margin at the intermission was only 41-40.

The Chaparrals extended their lead to as much as 14 points in the second half on their way to their 19th victory against five defeats.

Kassner was the star of the game as he grabbed 12 rebounds in addition to scoring 22 points and playing a solid defensive game. Four other C/D players scored in double figure as Gaddy had 20, Gary Hopps 14, Harold Goodson 11, and Mark Springhorn 10.

C/D basketball coach Dick Walters talks to his team during a timeout. Walters' squad needs to win just three more games this season to become the winningest team in DuPage history.

Springhorn also had seven rebounds in a fine relief job.

Although the Chaparrals were slightly off their usual game they still managed to hit the open man enough to gather an impressive amount of assists. Gaddy, Goodson, and Hopps each accounted for five in this department.

In the Prairie State game, played Feb. 2, DuPage scored an easy 93-42 victory. Top scorer for C/D was Scott Bobysud with 16 points.

This Saturday DuPage will travel to Rock Valley for an N4C contest and then on Wednesday, Feb. 14, they will play the University of Wisconsin (Milwaukee), freshmen in the 10,500-seat Milwaukee Arena. The game will be played before a University of Wisconsin (Madison) game.

Matmen win 3 behind Priggee

The College of DuPage wrestling squad, led by Milt Priggee and Ron Curtis, turned in its best performance of the season as they easily won three out of four meets last week.

Last Thursday, Feb. 1, C/D traveled to Danville where they lost to the Franklin College varsity 26-10. DuPage managed to win only three bouts against a much more experienced squad. Milt Priggee, 158, and Bill Flyte, 142, won on points while Ron Curtis, 126, turned in a 20-6 superior decision.

The match against Danville turned out to be somewhat of a joke as DuPage won seven bouts by default and won the meet 51-6. C/D again lost a shutout because they had to forfeit the heavyweight division.

Saturday the grapplers won easily over Baron County 40-6 and Richland Center 45-12. Curtis, Priggee, Flyte, Rich Lukens, 134, Bill Porter, 142, Andy Cole, 150, John Chittendon, 167, and Jeff Nelson, 190, all won both their bouts against the two Wisconsin schools.

Priggee, the team captain, leads the squad with an 18-2 record followed by Curtis at 17-3. Priggee also leads in pins, nearfalls, and total points. Curtis leads the team in takedowns.

DuPage will close out their dual meet season at home this Friday, Feb. 9 at 4:00 p.m. against Rock Valley. Saturday C/D will travel to Joliet for the N4C tournament.

Polzin sets two records

Chris Polzin, C/D's freshman swimming star, continues to break one record after another. Last Friday, Feb. 2, Polzin set two pool records and tied two C/D records at the Wright Invitational.

Polzin set marks of 57.7 in the 100-yard backstroke and 2:10.3 in the 200-yard backstroke. Both tied his previous high marks for the season.

His time of 57.7 in the 100 ranks him as the top swimmer in the nation in that event while his time in the 200 ranks him second to Phil Djang of Alfred A & T. Polzin is also No. 13 in the country in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 1:59.

While Polzin was setting records at Wright, the rest of the DuPage team failed to win any events. Scott Madsen took third in the 100-yard butterfly and fourth in the 100-yard freestyle. DuPage's medley relay team of Polzin, Madsen, Jay Shepler, and Tony Brajenovich took fifth place.

This Friday the C/D swimmers will again travel to Wright, this time to compete in the Region IV meet.

By Don Doxsie
Sports Editor

In the interest of equal time, this week I will answer a couple of letters which have been directed at me. The first letter is from the Bitch Box:

The only real bitch I have is the fantastic caliber of sports writer that the school manages to come up with. This year's example, Don Doxsie. Only one question: Under which rock did you find him?

Sports Fan

Under the rock labeled Students Who Are Willing To Do Something Rather Than Just Talk About It." Since you obviously are an authority on sports journalism, I'd be more than happy to have you write some articles for me so I don't have to write so many myself. Then maybe I could take more time with each one and do a better job.

Another letter, which was somewhat less hostile, concerns the Focus on Sports column in the Jan. 11 issue of The Courier.

I feel that your article was a poor display of journalism on your part. Surely you can come up with something more worth the ink.

Joe Hodal was a fine team member and always spoke highly of coach Dick Miller. Joe also displayed great passing ability against Illinois Valley which enabled the team to win.

By the way, Joe was voted Most Valuable Player by his fellow teammates.

Don, let's try and be more positive in what we say about others.

Doug Kendon,
C/D football player

Doug,

You, like so many other people, failed to get the point of that article. I meant to say that while Joe Hodal was not a great passer, not a great runner, and not a great athlete, that does not necessarily mean he isn't mean he isn't a great quarterback.

In football, particularly on the high school and college level, a quarterback must be just as talented as a leader and as an inspiration he must be as well. Joe Hodal was a leader. He inspired his teammates to win. DuPage's record shows that.

This final letter also came by way of the Bitch Box:

I have been reading The Courier for the past two years and have found the paper improving with every issue. But I have come to a very rash decision about the sports section concerning hockey. The hockey team gets very little publicity and always a small writeup. When you turn to the back page all you see is a gigantic article on the basketball team with pictures all over the place. The hockey team has comprised a record of seven wins and no losses and is on their way to the nationals again this year. Why don't we get any recognition?

Bob Levinson

Bob,

Evidently you haven't heard that basketball is a little bit more popular at C/D than hockey. The gym has been packed for almost every home game. I think the hockey team should be grateful. They've received more recognition than many of the other sports teams at DuPage. It's just not possible to have a big detailed story for every sport. As for pictures, it's much easier for our photographers to get basketball photos because the games are played on campus in the evening while most of the hockey games are played during the day in Downers Grove.

Conlon paces gymnasts

The nationally-ranked College of DuPage gymnastics team brought its season record to 6-1 last Saturday with a 118.9 to 102 win over Triton College.

Steve Conlon was the star performer for DuPage as he won the still rings and horizontal bar, while also qualifying for the nationals in the all-around category.

The still rings appear to have become C/D's strongest event as they swept the top three spots with Conlon, Pat Stauffer, and Bob Wakup. Finishing behind Conlon in the horizontal bar in third place was Mike Corcoran. Bob Fagan lost the all-around event to Conlon by less than a point.

Other winners for C/D were Fagan in the floor exercise, Ray Dodge in the parallel bars, and Kevin Montgomery in the long horse vaulting.

The only event DuPage did not win was the side horse where Bob Kolvitz finished behind Triton's Jeff Hart. Kolvitz defeated Hart earlier in the season at the DuPage Invitational.

A pleasant surprise for DuPage was Mike Pinns, usually a high-scoring trampolinist, competed for the first time in the floor exercise and long horse vaulting and scored very well.

The next meet for C/D will be this Saturday, Feb. 10, when they will participate in a quadrangular meet at Platteville, Wis.

Icemen still unbeaten

DuPage's unbeaten hockey team is still performing miracles as they beat Harper 5-1, and Joliet 15-3 last week.

The leading scorer is Bill McConaughy with 20 goals and 10 assists for 30 points. Second is Gary Fialco with 13 goals and 13 assists for 26 points.

In their first nine games, C/D has scored 84 goals, while the opposition has scored only 19 goals.

The next home game is Tuesday against Moraine Valley, 12 noon, at Downers Grove Ice Arena. Then on Thursday DuPage will go to Willow Ice Chalet for a 3:30 game against Morton.

Intramurals

Although intramural volleyball has been going for only a couple of weeks now, there is already just one undefeated team. That team, the Losers, defeated the league's other previously unbeaten team, the Beercats 9-15, 15-13, 15-7 to take over first place Tuesday, Feb. 6.

Also in Tuesday's action, the Soccer team crushed Miller's team 15-5, 15-13 and the Conglomerates won their first match of the year as they routed the Studs +2 15-4, 15-1.

Last weeks action saw the Soccer team dump the Conglomerates 15-9, 1-15, 15-6 on Tuesday, Jan. 30. Also on Tuesday, the Beercats defeated the Studs +2 15-1, 15-13 and the Losers scraped past Miller's team 15-1, 15-10. In Feb. 1 action, the Beercats, Losers, and Miller's team were all victorious.

The finals of the intramural wrestling competition will be held this Friday, Feb. 9 in the gym. Spectators are welcome to come and see the lively action.
