Michael Bakalis talks with reporter Peter Garvey Tuesday night, before the gubernatorial candidate spoke at a Democratic rally in the Performing Arts Center.

Bakalis vows 20% tax slash

By Peter Garvey

Michael J. Bakalis vowed here Tuesday night that if elected he would cut Illinois' taxes by at least 20 percent or he would not run again.

The 40-year-old Democratic candidate for governor said that if he can't sell the idea of tax relief to the home owners and renters of DuPage County, "then we should raise the white flag and surrender to what we have to put up with currently."

Bakalis, speaking before a rally in the Performing Arts Center, lashed-out at Gov. James Thompson's "Thompson Proposition", which Bakalis branded a "cowardly kind of proposition."

"Mr. Thompson has said in the past that his philosophy is that he is opposed to any spending limitations, but now in the wake of the Proposition 13 wave, he comes out with his Thompson Proposition."

The Thompson Proposition is legislation aimed at cutting state taxes, recently introduced by the governor.

"With this kind of flip-flopping, Mr. Thompson is not capable of being governor at anytime," said Bakalis. "His proposition will not provide any kind of relief at all; it is against all of his previous records. Mr. Thompson has no business being the governor of Illinois."

While winding down the last three weeks of the campaign, Bakalis added that with the extraordinarily high property taxes in DuPage County, (Bakalis) lives in Downers Grove, it would give him more incentive to cut "the kind of taxes that are grinding us into the ground."

"We are tired of politicians who are all promise and no delivery, of those who say one thing when running and do the other thing when elected," said Bakalis. "There is one and only one issue here, taxes. And when the governor wants to raise the gas tax, with us in DuPage County having the highest gas tax in the country, I'm sure that you, the voters, should know the answer to that."

Bakalis said that in the past three weeks, the issues have become more clarified and more crystalized.

"Mr. Thompson has not performed at all in the past three weeks worthy of a candidate for governorship of Illinois."

Before his note-less speech, Bakalis spoke briefly to a reporter about community colleges:

"We need to make the community colleges consistently expanding to be accessible to the ever-growing need of options and vocations."

Bakalis added that in the past 10 years Illinois has moved in the right direction "geographically and physically in availability."

"The key to the community college system is the institutions being able to respond to an older student body and being able to meet all of the students' needs and schedules," said Bakalis. "Especially, look at the number of women who are going back to school."

As for upkeeping the Illinois system on a whole, Bakalis said that he would reverse the current trend of cutting funding for institutions.

"In the past two years, funding has been cut from 48 percent to 46 percent. That must be reversed."

SG gives 100% support to student/parent co-op

"We feel the Student Parent Co-op is an excellent program and should be maintained," Student Senate said in a resolution passed unanimously Tuesday. "We of the Senate will do everything in our power to maintain this fine program."

Three points to support the decision were stated in the resolution, which was co-sponsored by Sens. Steve Dunaway (Kappa) and Barb Angell (Delta).

"The Student Parent Co-op allows some students to attend CD that otherwise couldn't," the first point reads. The resolution also says "the children that attend the co-op are exposed to a fine educational environment."

"The co-op is almost self-supporting," it also says.

The co-op is now faced with closing under state law at the end of 1978 if it does not get a full-time director. Funds to pay this director are not presently available, though, according to Tom Schmidt, associate director of the Campus Center.

"We are giving them our moral support," Dunaway said. He also said he might be in favor of the Senate supplying some sort of financial support.

At the same meeting, the Senate decided to set the deadline for turning in petitions for seats in the fall elections back one week. The new deadline is Thursday, Oct. 26, at 1 p.m.

Disturbances too much; officials rope off lounge

By Jim Valancius

A2026 was closed Monday as a student lounge because it got too noisy and was used too much for tossing around footballs and basketballs.

The suite is part of the Office of Instruction and contains the offices of Dr. Lon Gault, dean of instruction, and William Gooch, dean of occupational programs.

Gault told a reporter he simply "couldn't take it any longer."

Gooch said, "I want to challenge the students. The solution to this problems is to find a place to meet and socialize."

Up until Monday, one of the most popular places to meet and socialize seemed to be A2026. However, closing the lounge had been threatened as long ago as last spring and for the same reasons.

The situation got so bad that the students, mostly "football players, simply visiting," according to Gooch, "just got out of hand."

Gault asked football coach Bob MacDougall for help, and though the athletes were sometimes asked as often as three times a day to quiet down, the situation got no better.

"The problem began last spring with basketball players," Gault said, and although it was tolerated then, he said he felt to the rights of others were being violated.

The room was originally provided for those who were "serious about studying," according to Gooch but the noise prevented that. Work in adjacent offices was also hindered, and the noise "deprived the secretaries of peace," Gooch said.

A2033 has been designated as a replacement for the lounge which has now been roped off.

Study lounge in A2026 was roped off Monday and not open for student use. Officials said the area was used as a hangout and not a study place.

Flu shots available

The Health Center is now giving flu shots for protection against Type A/Texas and Type B/Hong Kong flu strains.

Located in A3H the Health Center is open from 7:30 a.m. until 10 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Friday. There will be a $3 fee charged.

Immunization will be deferred in the presence of acute respiratory disease or active infection. The shots are not recommended for people with allergies to eggs, chickens or chicken feathers.

Emotional concerns top telephone tape requests

Suicide and depression, two of the most urgent emotional problems in the United States today, are definitely in evidence in the CD community, judging from some of the responses to the new college Telephone Information Playback System (TIPS.)

According to Bruce Moncrieff of the Career Planning and Placement office, the tapes dealing with depression and suicide, which are available to the public by phone, are just about worn out now. Moncrieff spoke about TIPS during Monday's meeting of the Administrative Council.

The tapes Moncrieff mentioned are provided by the office of counseling and advising and give information on such subjects as What is Depression?; How to Deal With Depression; Depression as a Life Style; How to Deal With Loneliness; How to Handle Fears; Suicidal Crisis; Recognizing Suicidal Potential in Others; and Helping Someone in a Suicidal Crisis.

Moncrieff said one of the people answering calls on the TIPS line had, over a period of weeks, taken calls from the same person (identified only through voice) who started out asking for the suicide tapes, then progressed through the depression and anxiety tapes, and finally worked into the tapes on job opportunities.

As Moncrieff commented, this is perhaps the best indication that the Telephone Information Playback System is providing the service it hoped to offer.

Currently, the system offers 16 tapes dealing with career planning and placement, 4 dealing with financial aids, 57 concerned with various aspects of the counseling field, eight about admission and registration, one about the CD information office and one about the college occupational program.

Moncrieff said his office hopes to have many, many more tapes available in the future, dealing with all subjects which would be of interest to residents of the college district.

TIPS has been in operation less than three months and is already averaging 45 calls per day. All this has taken place without any advertising outside the college community.

Schedules have been passed out on campus. Tapes are listed on the schedule by name and number and callers are asked to request the tape wanted by number.

The system is operational between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday and between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Friday.

The telephone numbers to call are 858-2871 and 858-2917.

Adjusting the furnace takes time

A chill ran down the spines of many students on the third floor of A Bldg. Monday. Many bundled in jackets and sweaters to escape the cold.

Tuesday they came prepared. But A Bldg. was warm, too warm.

Pre-Halloween mischief? Not at all.

"It's a matter of time before it (the furnace) balances out," Randy Ledbetter of the Boiler Room said. "There's a lot more to it than that but the average person wouldn't understand it so it's a waste of time explaining it."

The furnaces were turned on Monday. According to Ledbetter, the Arctic cold and the tropical heat which is plaguing third floor classes will pass.

A Bldg.'s furnace was mild compared to the furnace in M Bldg. where the halls were filled with smoke Monday night. Glen Ellyn Fire Department responded, but found no fire. The smoke came from the furnace.

"It's nothing unusual, it was just burning off the dirt from the construction that had been going on in that area all summer," explained Ledbetter.

Club to view research tunnel

The Engineering Club will view the Amoco Laboratory chassis dynamometer and wind tunnel in Naperville at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 24.

Persons interested are urged to contact Bob Harvey, engineering instructor, A1012 or 1017, of the Delta office.

Students will view the all-weather facility which can maintain temperatures from 110 to minus 40 degrees Fahrenheit and wind speeds up to 90 mph.

The closed-circuit, semi-open jet wind tunnel is used primarily for automotive fuel and lubrication studies.

The "auto driver" systems precisely repeat in the tunnel the speed and road conditions of the vehicle as it was actually operated on the road.

Police seek van in Stirn case

The reported sighting of a dark red van near the CD campus has given Woodridge police their only new clue in the Sept. 15 disappearance of Margaret Stirn, 18, a college employee.

A witness, according to Deputy Chief Michael Haeger, saw a woman of Stirn's description getting into the van at about 8:45 a.m. on Park Blvd. in Glen Ellyn, just south of the college.

The van is described as a shiny burgundy color with gold and white trim, round smoked rear windows, square mirrors, a horizontal gold stripe on the side, and white raised lettering on the tires.

Anyone with information relating to the case may call the Woodridge police at 852-7000.

Book prices double here in past 5 years

By Amy Mueller

How much did you pay for books this quarter?

If you were the average full-time student here, you put out about $60 in books alone. Dollar wise, prices for books have doubled in the past five years.

Where a student used to pay $8 to $10 dollars per class, the costs can now end up close to $20 between the text and supplementary material.

The price of paper, the cost to print, and the price paid to the author are a few reasons, a Bookstore employee said. These costs, even for newer additions of the same book, are then relayed to the buyer.

These prices for the most part increase close to once a year, paralleling inflation.

The college Bookstore, is non-profit, and runs as a service to the college students. The Bookstore wants "cost of operation" profits. If actual profits are ever made, they go directly into a college fund.

Contrary to popular belief, the bookstore does not set its own prices. The books either come pre-priced or are shipped with a publishers' retail price list. That list is already discounted up to 20 per cent for the school, the Bookstore said, and these are the prices printed in by the Bookstore.

With rising costs, do the teachers take the price of a recommended text into consideration?

"For the most part, the teachers are very conscious of the price of books," said Joan Jaacks, a Bookstore secretary. If not, the dean can step in.

A recent ruling to protect students restricts teachers to changing their text only once a year. This change can occur only in the fall quarter each year, seemingly affecting the least amount of students.

If your pocket has felt the pinch regardless of teacher concern, there is a way to get some of your money back. The Bookstore has a "buy back" system the last week of a quarter. A student then has the opportunity to get half of today's market price of a new book, even on a used book. The book will be sold again at 75 per cent of that market price.

For example, if the new book costs 40 cents, by returning it you will receive 20 cents, and the book will be sold again as a used book for 30 cents.

Faust named editor; VanLoon to be m.e.

Dan Faust, managing editor of the Courier since last June, was named editor this week. Criss VanLoon takes over his job.

After attending CD from 1974 to 1976, VanLoon returned to CD this fall. She had attended Southern Illinois University in Carbondale since leaving DuPage, but returned here to pick up basic business classes when she changed her major to marketing.

She was active in Student Government and on the swim team while attending CD. She plans to attend Roosevelt University in Chicago after this quarter.

Faust, a journalism major, worked as a reporter on the Courier last year, and was editor of his high school newspaper during his senior year at Lisle High School. He is also actively involved with the Campus Christian Fellowship at CD.

The top editorial position was left open when the editor selected at the start of summer quarter resigned late in September. That editor, Charlotte Manning, felt she didn't have the time necessary to fulfill that commitment. She is still working on the staff as "one of the best reporters we've got," according to Faust.

Credit for something you know

By Beverly Ireland

How would you like to earn credit without taking a course?

For the last six years, CD students have been doing just that, using the college's Credit by Demonstrated Competence program.

Many students choose to take the College Level Examination Program (CLEP) tests to fulfill both specific course and general education requirements. There are two basic types of tests offered through CLEP: general examinations, of which there are five (English, natural science, mathematics, social science/history, and humanities), and the 47 subject examinations, which cover a wide range of introductory level courses.

The general exams are not considered equivalent to any specific CD courses but are used to earn credit hours toward graduation requirements in general education. For example, an acceptable score on the general examination in Humanities will earn you 10 hours toward that general education degree requirement.

The subject exams are recognized as being equivalent to specific CD courses and can be used to earn credit both towards general education or toward specific course requirements.

For example, if you are interested in history and feel that the reading you have done or experiences you have had were equivalent to knowledge in specific history courses, you might consider taking the CLEP subject exam in American History; an acceptable score on this exam will earn you 15 quarter credits in American History.

The CLEP examinations, which are each 90 minutes in length, are offered on campus the third Tuesday (subject exams) and third Thursday (general exams) of every month. Registration forms are available in the Office of Testing, J131. The fee is $20 per examination.

Not all CD courses have an equivalent CLEP examination. If you feel you have knowledge of a course that does not have an equivalent CLEP examination, don't despair.

The Credit by Proficiency through an Instructor option was designed for this purpose. First contact an instructor of the course you feel you already have knowledge of and demonstrate your knowledge to the instructor's satisfaction. Once this is done, submit a completed Petition for Credit form to the Records Office with the instructor's signature. Credit will be recorded on your transcript after payment of the appropriate fee.

Anyone interested in learning more about the Credit by Demonstrated Competence Program can pick up the "Credit for Something You Know" brochure in J131, or call 858-2800, Extension 2400 or 2401.

Office hours are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday; also 6 to 8:30 p.m. the first and last Wednesdays of the month during fall, winter and spring quarters.

She wants to learn to read —

But what if she can't pay tuition?

A young woman who seems to have nothing going for her except a strong sense of survival is getting some help at College of DuPage.

She is married, with four children, and her husband will not tell her where he works or how much money he makes. He buys all the groceries and leaves her from day to day without a cent. He beats both her and the children. She has no means of transportation at all, and she cannot read.

The obstacles seem insurmountable and yet she has taken the first steps to overcome them.

Learning to read comes first for the young woman, and she was brought to see Beverly Bogaard, director of the DLL.

Bogaard said that at the present time, there is no way the woman could receive help with her tuition since she cannot provide the necessary information about her husband's financial status. Various social service organizations had been contacted on the woman's behalf, but their legal requirements again include information which the woman could not provide.

A volunteer group has been giving her rides to the college for her DLL class since the woman has no money for bus fare.

A babysitting service of some type is needed for her children. Neighbors who were asked to help in caring for the children while their mother is at the college were reluctant because they said they fear her husband's anger.

Bogaard said, after hearing the details of the woman's troubles, she chose the only immediate solution left to her — she gave her the money for her tuition.

"There was absolutely nothing else to do," Bogaard said.

The woman's story was brought out Monday during a discussion by members of the Administrative Council of variable tuition rates for disadvantaged individuals.

According to a report presented by Robert Seaton, director of planning and development, variable tuition rates are permitted by the state according to individual circumstances. However, it is up to the college to set its own criteria as to what constitutes educational and economic disadvantage.

Senior citizens and 12th year option students are currently the ones generally affected by variable tuition rates.

College to buy new computer

The college will rent a new IBM computer to lighten the "gross overloading" of present facilities.

Dr. Francis Cole, Board member, said, "We need additional computing power and this is the sensible way to do it."

The Board of Trustees voted to rent an IBM 170/138 computer for $12,630 a month on an interim month-to-month basis. During the interim the college will develop a long-term plan that will serve computer needs for the next three to four years.

The Board was told that the system is now so overloaded that student use for instruction has been curtailed 60 per cent.

Bartley Carlson, computer services director, said the rental cost would include monthly maintenance and 55 cents of every dollar paid for rental would serve as a reduction in the purchase price, should the college decide later to buy the computer.

Hope springs again for LRC building

The proposed new Learning Resources Center building has bounced from No. 6 to No. 2 position on the priority list of the Illinois Community College Board (ICCB).

But it's still No. 92 on the priority list of the Illinois Board of Education (IBHE). And that's the unit which deals with requests for all higher education capital outlay.

Ted Tilton, acting president of College of DuPage, said last week efforts will be made to move the LRC to a higher standing on the list.

Priorities for construction at state community colleges are established by the ICCB and then recommended to the IBHE. This can include remodeling as well as new construction, especially at the state universities. The board interrelates the schools on this priority list.

The list is then submitted to the Legislature and the state Bureau of the Budget which determine the total amount to be appropriated for that year. It is up to the governor to release the funds.

The IBHE then goes down its list funding each project until the appropriation is depleted.

Those projects not receiving funds do not necessarily retain their positions on the priority list. The IBHE reevaluates the projects and then sets new priorities. It is at this point that College of DuPage is now working to get a higher priority placement.

The state's share of funding community college construction is 75 per cent of the total cost of the building with the college providing 25 per cent. Currently the state's share of the approximate $16 million estimated cost of the LRC would be $13 million, a figure which includes a $1 million grant in federal funds.

The college's share will be provided by a portion of the $8 million it has invested in bonds, the result of the $11 million bond issue passed in May, 1975. That bond issue was to cover construction of the LRC, a campus center and completion of the third floor of A Bldg.

Where the priorities lie

It's too bad that CD, with all its efforts to "keep pace with the future", can't find the cash to continue one of its most relevant futuristic programs.

I'm referring to the student/parent co-op, the inexpensive day-care center that will soon be forced to close its doors unless somebody does something. And, as of yet, no one has come up with a solution.

The Co-op, which has been operating successfully since 1972, is being forced to hire a full-time co-ordinator or shut down at the end of fall quarter. This is in compliance with the recent revision of the Child Care Act of 1969.

According to Tom Schmidt, who is the director of Student Activities, "this would cost around $10,000 . . . money we don't have."

Begging to differ with Schmidt, the money is there. It's tied up in rock concerts and "special activities", but the money does exist. The problem, as I have seen it, is not one of financial shortage but more one of inadequate use of funds.

It is inadequate from the standpoint of the many young mothers who are going back to school in order to provide that much needed "second income" for their families in today's inflated economy. Most of these families cannot afford to hire a babysitter at $2 an hour and up every day, compounded with the costs of going to college.

Not only is day-care inexpensive at CD, it is also an alternative to leaving children with a disinterested woman who couldn't care less about them. Many of the women operating day-care out of their homes are concerned only about their own incomes. Because many of them handled their jobs irresponsibly is the reason Illinois now demands a full time co-ordinator!

To say that the women at CD care more about the kids than many other day-care centers is a truism. These children do not belong to total strangers. They are either their own or those of their fellow classmates.

To expect the trend of women going back to work to fall off in the future, one has to be a dreamer. With the rising cost of living in the county constantly mounting, CD can expect the number of young mothers in need of day-care to increase steadily in the future.

It's time to stop waiting for the state to make an exception in "our case." The state doesn't make exceptions. To make one exception for a responsible day-care center is to say that it's o.k. to let the irresponsible operations continue.

Here's hoping that both the young mothers and the CD administration will get on the ball and do some financial switching before the end of fall quarter draws any closer.

— Charlotte Manning

Letters to the Editor—

Ernie Gibson, where are you?

Ernie Gibson, where are you? You have won this week's Golden Bed Pan Award for food service.

Why is the food here to the point that it is unpalatable? Ernie, I remember when you supervised the kitchen in person, and the food was better than it has been since. I have tried to see you to talk about the food situation, but thanks to your watch dog secretary, it is almost impossible.

You must know the terrible state of the food, or you would be more visible. I guess if I was in charge of something that was putting out such garbage at the expense of the students, faculty and staff, I would hide too, for fear someone would corner me and make me eat in the Campus Center. By the way, I never see you go through the line. Why not? Where do you eat?

Last week the new dean of students ate lunch in the Campus Center. His luck must be running hot. He's still alive (don't push it!).

Why is it that the school manages to put out good food when it wants to show off? Who are you trying to impress? For sure it's not the students. I had some of the food served at the last luncheon held in the Campus Center. It was quite good in comparison to what is served on a daily basis to the students.

Let's take a poll of the students and see what they think of the food service, and let's not forget the faculty as well in this poll.

The food service here must change for the good of the people who have to eat it. At present, it's enough to gag a maggot.

I will deal with cost later, but for now a hamburger like a Quarter Pounder at McDonald's is around 80 cents, and the cost of a hamburger here is 55 to 60 cents, for something that looks like pressed wood and tastes like shoe leather.

Be brave; come eat in the Campus Center. Bring your vaccination card; you'll need it.

T. C. Cramer

Reserved faculty parking not vital

I sympathize with Mr. Chuck Ellenbaum's viewpoints on the issue of reserved faculty parking. I also agree that the parking facilities here at CD are poor. But I must disagree that reserved parking for faculty is a vital function for an instructor.

The main issue here is the lack of parking for all. We need better facilities for all, not reserved parking for the few.

You have to wonder about the silence from the administration. Why haven't they demanded reserved spots also? It will come.

It's like a snowball rolling down a steep mountainside, continuously getting bigger and bigger. First the faculty, then the administration (it's more important that they be on time too), then the Yoga Club, the Fire Science Club, and on and on and on. Where will it end? There is no way that everybody at CD can have reserved parking. So let's let the physically handicapped be the only people to have reserved parking at this time.

I would like to suggest that the faculty and student senate both work together to achieve better parking for all.

The Student Senate gladly extends an invitation for any and all faculty to come to any Student Senate meeting and to discuss this problem with us.

As I've stated previously, we are not anti-teacher. We just feel that everyone is equal, and true justice is that they be treated as such.

Steven K. Dunaway
 Student Senator, Kappa

Two of seven aint bad?

Student Government is a little short on senate candidates for their November elections, as only two candidates have filed petitions for the seven positions open.

Finding enough candidates to fill the ballot has traditionally been one of SG's greatest challenges.

But last year's elections had more names on the ballots that SG had seen in a long time.

And the turnout of voters in their elections broke the old record, almost doubling it.

This year, however, interest again seems to have dropped a bit.

Perhaps it was just the mess made out of the fall elections last year, resulting in them being delayed for months, that roused students into political activity.

Believe it or not, a student government at a small community college does affect you, if you go to that school. While its decisions may not be major, earth-shattering, front page material for the Daily News, SG does accomplish a number of things which could have an impact on you.

For example, SG controls the Student Activities budget, which funds all clubs on campus, as well as music and theater programs. It also created a scholarship program for CD students.

SG is working in a number of different areas, essentially for what they feel are the best interests of the students.

Just what are the best interests of the students, though? And is SG representing them as well as they should?

The rather obvious way to find out is to drop by a Senate meeting and observe for yourself . . . even spew out a few ideas, perhaps.

If you already have some ideas as to how you can represent the students better (or as well), or if you think that maybe you've got potential as a representative of students here, you could even run for one of the open posts.

All it requires is that you have at least a 2.00 grade point average at DuPage and that you are registered for a minimum of five quarter hours of credit.

Petitions are available in the SG office (K134), and don't have to be turned in until next Thursday, Oct. 26. They are due at 1 p.m.

If you cannot participate directly in your student government, either by becoming a member of it or by attending meetings, it would be to your benefit at least to follow their activities as they appear in the news.

Then, as you get ideas, you could refer them to one of the senators or someone else in SG. SG will soon be moving its office to A Bldg., and say they want to keep some regular office hours.

It's up to you, the student, to make sure they keep those hours. After all, they're also getting paid out of the Student Activities budget, and that comes out of your pockets. You might as well get something out of it.

'Free Parking . . .'

A Grecian tragedy in one act.

Cast:
 Chorus.
 Professor.
 Student.

Scene: College of DuPage in Glen Ellyn, sometime in the fall of 1978.

Enter chorus.

Chorus: A great terrible battle now does rage,
 'bout the parking at College of DuPage.
 Should the teachers be elite?

The students don't think that's too neat!
 The teachers respond by feeling abused,
 We respond by feeling amused.
 For lesser causes have we mortals fought,
 Now is the battle of the parking lot.
 Now with the stage so neatly set,
 Who will win? It's an even bet.

Enter student and professor arguing violently.

Student: You think that you're so elite,
 You can park out in the street.

Professor: You youth,
 You have no respect,
 For the wise aged,
 We're education's elect.
 Close parking is our special right,
 If you don't like it,
 Why don't we fight?

Fade to chorus.

Chorus: The battle rages on and on,
 Why don't they just park on the lawn?
 We think there are issues greater yet,
 Why waste time on something this petty?
 We think the argument is pretty dumb,
 Yet it rages on ad infinitum ad absurdum.
 exuente omnes.

Talking transfer

Don Dame

Many transfer institutions now accept our Associate in Arts (A.A.) and Associate in Science (A.S.) degrees as meeting all general education requirements and grant automatic junior standing upon transfer.

CAUTION: If you graduate from CD with an A.A. or A.S. degree and transfer to any school which accepts our A.A. or A.S. degree, as described above, you will have met the university general education requirements of the transfer school, but sometimes your major area may require specific general education courses (Introduction to Psychology or Sociology, etc.).

If you don't take the course (s) at CD, you will be required to do so before graduation from the four-year school, and in some instances before you can continue in your major area.

If you wish to become a teacher and you transfer to a school which accepts our A.A. or A.S. degree as meeting all university general education requirements, you will indeed have met those general education requirements of your transfer institution, but you should be aware that you need specific "amounts" of hours in general education areas of Language Arts (English Composition, Speech, etc.), Humanities, Social Science, Science, and Mathematics for state certification.

A list of the hours needed in each of the above areas for state certification and what disciplines are included in each area may be found in the Information Centers of each small college and in the Planning and Information Center for Students (PICS) in the Learning Resources Center.

I would suggest you talk with your adviser and/or small college counselor if you have questions concerning teacher certification.

The following is a list of transfer institutions which accept our A.A. or A.S. degree as meeting all lower division general education requirements:

DePaul University, MacMurray College, Millikin University, Mundelein College and Rosary College.

This means that after transfer a student needs to complete some upper division general education courses during the junior and/or senior year at the above mentioned schools.

Institutions that accept our A.A. or A.S. as meeting all university general education requirements upon transfer are:

Chicago State University, Eastern Illinois University, Governors State University, Illinois State University, Kendall College, Lewis University. Also Northern Illinois University, Sangamon State University, Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Western Illinois University, University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse, and University of Wisconsin-Whitewater.

Air conditioning student returns as instructor

By Wally Orton

Louis Kohley started going to school at CD in 1974, graduated with an associate's degree in 1975, and is back at CD this year for a different reason.

He is a teacher in the Air Conditioning program.

Kohley applied for the job this summer after seeing various ads in area papers. He now has five classes, all of which have more than 100 per cent enrollment this quarter.

After receiving his associate's degree, Kohley went on to do what he calls his "field work" for two years at Bremer Sheet Metal Co. He gained experience in air conditioners, sheet metal, refrigerators and various other instruments.

When he applied for the teaching job here, he already knew the system because he had been through it himself.

"I like what CD is all about," he said. "It's a good community college and it prepares students well for the outside world."

Kohley, from Brookfield, says the equipment and facilities are satisfactory and some modernization has been done since he went to school here.

His biggest beef is that the school still hasn't installed a telephone in his office. However, he realizes that this is one of the perils of being a new teacher.

CCF TO MEET

Campus Christian Fellowship will hold a coffeehouse on Saturday, Oct. 21 from 8 to 11 p.m. in the CD Coffeehouse.

Featured performer will be Patty Baugh.

FREE WORKSHOP

A workshop entitled "How Can I Achieve My Potential" is being offered free from 7 to 10 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 23, in Downers Grove South High School. John Werle is the group leader.

To register, call the Extension Division, ext. 2210.

7th place, but forensics takes heart

Maybe the 1978 Forensics squad is following in the footsteps of last year's first place national team. The squad placed seventh out of 10 in its first tournament last weekend at Illinois State University in Normal.

"We did better than we did last year," said Jim Collie, forensic team adviser. "That team went on to place first in nationals."

Eleven members of the squad made the trip.

The ISU tournament was attended by two and four year schools. Several of the members were inexperienced, yet 6 entries placed in the final rounds.

First places included Chuck Schroeder of Bensenville in Folktales, and Doris Porter of Glen Ellyn and Anthony Cesaretti of Villa Park in Duet Interpretation.

Randy Schultz of Naperville and Andrew May of Wheaton took second place in Duet Interpretation, with Schultz also taking a fourth in Poetry. Lisa Baggott of Elmhurst and Maureen Nelligan of Glen Ellyn placed sixth in the Duet Interpretation. Tony Kieling of Bloomingdale placed sixth in Original Literature.

The Forensic team will compete at Millikin University in Decatur this weekend.

Guitar virtuoso lectures Oct. 23

Ernesto Bitetti, internationally famous guitar virtuoso, will hold a lecture-demonstration session on Monday, Oct. 23 at 1 p.m. in the Studio Theatre in M. Bldg.

Bitetti annually tours the major music centers of the world, records extensively and is featured on a European television series.

He will appear as soloist with the CD New Philharmonic orchestra in their first concert of the season on Tuesday, Oct. 24 in the Performing Arts Center in M Bldg. There is no admission charge.

Wheaton leads in enrollment

The average student has 1,516 chances to meet a Wheaton resident and only 1,460 chances to meet a Downers Grovian here.

Enrollment figures show that Wheaton continues to lead with the largest number of students. Downers Grove follows, trailed by Lombard at 1,342, Glen Ellyn with 1,279 and Naperville with 1,208.

The total is a record of 21,312. That is 1,670 over last fall's enrollment. Some 16,654 students are taking credit classes while 4,658 are enrolled in non-credit classes.

SG NEWS

By Andrea Swanson

Throughout the summer, SG members voiced their discontent with the SG office situation. Although we do have an office in A Bldg., the official one is located in the Campus Center. This was appropriate some years ago when the majority of classes were held at the west end of the campus. Today however, the Campus Center is usually deserted, and few students are willing to make a trip from A Bldg. to K Bldg. unless they absolutely have to.

And while it is desirable for SG to maintain good relationships with the administration, SG is supposed to be serving the students. The offices and rooms in K Bldg. belong to the administration, registration and record, public-relations, and the mail and staff service areas.

On Friday, Oct. 13 SG members were finally given the news that a suite of six offices were available for occupation in A Bldg. The only difficulty which prevented a move in the summer was that the individual offices within the suite had to be vacated and then relocated. After discussion about the subject, a bill was introduced which would approve the six office suite. The bill was passed unanimously, and it is hoped that full occupation of the new suite will take place within a week or two. The K Bldg. office will then be vacated by SG permanently.

The advantages to the move are numerous. While students will have easier access to Student Government, SG members will be able to have more contact with them as the majority have their classes in A Bldg. Also it will be easier to maintain efficient and convenient office hours. We're excited about the move. We think it will really increase student participation in SG. Come on in for a visit. You'll find us on the second floor at the south-east corner. The room number is 2059.

Why not let them live?

by Summer chin-man Wang
(Student from Republic of China; at College of DuPage three months. English as a second language).

In this country there are many beautiful, interesting, lovely animals. Among them the different birds. All with their stained-glass colors and brightness set us in a unique world of nature.

We all, rabbits, wolves, foxes, birds and people, are animals of this world.

We were created to live, to share, to help each other until man started to think he was the strongest. He began to abuse, to waste, to kill that nature with its birds, rabbits, wolves and foxes.

People made guns. Now, those who have guns are always excited and driven. They can't control their shooting, when they feel too excited, they try to find a target; a bird is a bright target for them.

First, you hear a song. Then, down comes the tangled mass of feathers.

The beauty of a moment ago has been altogether changed. Now, there is only a pitiful heap of the former brightness.

Who can help those wild creatures?

Do people hear the birds before they die? It's senseless to kill birds. They belong to nature.

God has given the animal kingdom life. We should be able to live.

Wild creatures have always seemed more beautiful than tame ones. Let them live wild and free. Why not have feelings for them?

Chaps tangle into gridiron chaos as three teams tie for first place

By Larry LoVetere

After following a few weeks of Chaparral football, you probably are asking, just where do the Chaps stand in their conference? The DuPage Chaparrals are in a three-way and possibly a four-way tie for first place in the North Central Community College Conference.

This zany predicament evolved this past weekend when the Chaparrals demolished the Thornton Bulldogs 35-14 and previously undefeated Illinois Valley got knocked off by Rock Valley, 14-7.

Illinois Valley's coach McCann explained the loss.

"We're not very good. We're not half as good as we were last year. Darn near all freshmen. Last year we were almost all sophomores. A lot of experience."

Chap coach Bob MacDougall's squad is now 5-1 on the season and 3-1 in conference play. Earlier in the season, after the Chaps had lost to the Harper Hawks, MacDougall weighed his team's chances of taking the crown.

"Illinois Valley will beat Harper and then we're going to knock off Illinois Valley."

Harper did lose to IV, however MacDougall didn't plan on Illinois Valley getting beat by Rock Valley, which has thrown everything into chaos.

You see, Harper has one loss, but has beaten the Chaparrals. However, Triton College, who has two losses, beat Harper. Unfortunately, the victory was wiped out when Triton had to forfeit the game because they allegedly used an ineligible player. A ruling is still forthcoming on the forfeit.

If the forfeit stands and providing Harper and DuPage win their remaining games, that would put the Chaps in a bind. Harper, having beaten DuPage, would have the edge, even though the teams' records would be identical. MacDougall figures the N4C Board would have to make a decision on who would be champion.

Regardless, the Chaps' first task is to win their remaining three games, two of which are against schools that are still in contention, Triton and Illinois Valley.

MacDougall commented, "The team that wins it will have only one loss." That means that none of the teams involved can lose another game.

MacDougall continued, "We're looking at the next three games as championship games."

Illinois Valley's coach McCann figured his team's chances.

"We have to beat DuPage. It's a big ball game. It would have been big regardless."

Asked whom he thought had the best chance of winning the conference, he replied, "DuPage."

Triton is no push over, and it's going to be a hard hitting game. MacDougall agreed.

"They play aggressive. They have a middle linebacker that they think is all conference. He played last year for Southern Illinois. He's done a good job for them. They're tough from tackle to tackle. They've got some big, strong guys on the line."

Jimmy the Greek wouldn't give odds on a race for the crown like this one.

CD netters finish second in Sectionals

By Anne Champion

The DuPage tennis team came in second place with a good score of 10 points in a highly tense NJCAA Region IV Women's Tennis Sectionals last Saturday at Harper.

First place Harper had 14 points followed by CD with 10, third place Oakton, 5, finishing fourth. Morton had 1 while Elgin and Rock Valley brought up the rear with 0 points each.

Individually, CD's No. 1 player, Cathy Moore, qualified for the State Finals. Cathy took Beth Koeser of Elgin 6-1, 6-0 and Jenny Jiminez of Harper with a double score of 7-6, 7-6. In the semifinal round, Cathy lost to the eventual winner, Mary Beth Frick of Harper, 0-6, 1-6.

"Cathy played well and learned something about tournament play," said Coach Dave Webster. "It's outstanding for a freshman to qualify for the State Tourney."

Sue Boldebuck, who teams with Moore as the Chap's No. 1 doubles team, also qualified for State in the doubles competition.

Dawn Stephenhagan, DuPage's No. 3 player defeated Oakton's conference singles champion Maria Yum by 6-3, 7-5.

"She scored in a highly contested, close match," said Webster. "She was also aggressive in net plays and had exciting shots."

Chaparrals' No. 4 player, Lisa Svabek, ground Elgin's Cathy Briskie with a score of 6-1, 6-2.

"Lisa nearly qualified for state but ran into Harper's Mary Beth Frick, 1-6, 3-6.

In last Tuesday's match, the Chaps were victorious against Joliet with a score of 6-3.

CD's No. 1 doubles team of Moore/Boldebuck won pro set 8-3. Second doubles Stephenhagan/Svabek lost 3-8 while third doubles, Jackie Manley and Sue Rudnick came back to win 8-4. This makes CD's overall record 9-4.

As Webster put it, "This match was not too exciting, as the girls are tuning up for the weekend."

The Chaparrals go for the big times this Saturday at the State Finals at Elgin's Valley Hills Racquet Club. Providing the team can conquer that field, then it is on to Waco, Texas for the National Tournament.

Kickers jut soccer tourney into spotlight

By Pete Garvey

Believe it or not, the fall sports season is almost over, and that means tallying up all the score sheets, figuring stats and the whatnot.

But before true boredom strikes the Sports Editor, it must be said that this week's DuPage soccer Classic will rank right up there with the football team's weekly ascent into the NJCAA national rankings.

But football in its original form, otherwise known as soccer, is having itself quite a time, too. CD coach Bob Graham and his green squad have suddenly put together an offense that finally has complimented the Chaparral's stone-wall defense.

All season long the CD backfield, featuring Gary Baker, Matt Czubik, Gary Dini and Jim Tomei has lent more helping hands than Allstate Insurance to a meager Chap offense.

But lo and behold! A couple of switches here, a little pep talk there, and Graham's Green Machine has scored 15 goals in their last three games, while the defense has, believe it or not, improved. Three straight CD victories have been shutouts, making the whitewash number for goalies Kevin Lyons and Scott Wiseman four. Not only have the two bullseye's backstopped and backboned DuPage, in the five games that CD has lost, four of them have been by 1-0 scores. Tight as a drum, as they say.

Back to the DuPage Classic. And a classic it will be this weekend.

Wouldn't you know it, DuPage has to face off with Waukesha Tech, a team that has scored a 6-1-2 record so far. I don't care who you're playing against, a 6-1-2 ledger against anybody is impressive. The Chaparrals will open up the tourney at 11 a.m. Friday morning, then Forest Park will face Cuyahoga CC in game two, starting at 2 p.m.

No matter what happens to any of the teams, it will make for some of the most exciting sports action to happen around her in a long time. The championship game will be played at 2 p.m. Saturday, while the consolation game starts at 11 a.m., also on Saturday.

I think a little moral support from some of the student body might be worthwhile.

Chap team takes tenth in cross country meet

By Andi Konrath

Despite the injuries reducing them to a four-man team the DuPage cross country team earned a 10th-place finish among the 17 entries in the Milwaukee Tech Invitational last Saturday.

Milwaukee Tech captured 1st-place with a score of 52, barely scraping by Wright, a top ranked team in the state who finished just one point behind at 53. The Chaparrals scored 236.

Mike Pellikan of Wright was the individual champion with his time of 26:41 far ahead of the second place, which was clocked at 27:32. Once again Ron Jaderholm led the Chaps with his time of 28:30 and placing 19th. Anton Smits followed placing 20th with a time of 28:38. The other two Chaps and their places were John Dispensa (62), and Jay Grinnell (69). There were 85 competitors.

This Saturday the Chaps will host the DuPage Invitational held at Lewis University Law School at 11 a.m. The meet will consist of 27 teams. Three of the top ten teams in the nation will be competing there — along with Wright and Lincoln Land, the top two Illinois schools.

Matt Wilhite who is currently getting over a leg injury, is being saved for the state and conference meets while Ed Huson, a new addition to the team, will run as the fifth man.

DuPage's Judy Zapatka makes a great effort in saving ball from going out of bounds in last week's volleyball action against Northern Illinois. CD lost, and had their record lowered to 14-16. Story on page 8.

CD golf team qualifies for State Finals at Joliet

By defeating the field in the Sectional Tourney held at Joliet, the Chaparral golf team has earned a berth for the State Finals which will be held Oct. 27-28, also at Joliet.

CD finished with a score of 312, as compared to runner-up Harper with 317. CD's Dave Bray won a one-hold playoff from Scott Spielman of Harper for 1st-place by scoring a birdie on the playoff. Bray and Spielman had tied at 75 for 18 holes.

Other Chaps to finish were Joe Corona, who tied for third with 76 and Jeff Lincoln, who tied for 6th with 77. Both golfers survived three-way ties for the placings.

Here are the team scores:

DuPage.....	312
Harper.....	317
Joliet.....	317
Lake Co.....	317
Morton.....	320
Elgin.....	332

Truman.....	337
Triton.....	340
Waubensee.....	340
Oakton.....	340
McHenry.....	360
Thornton.....	360

Despite a fourth-place finish in the Oct. 10, conference invitational golf match at Illinois Valley, the DuPage golf team is still in second place in the North Central Community College Conference standings.

Joliet and Harper tied for the invitational lead with a 311 team score. Illinois Valley followed with a 318 and DuPage finished at 325. Rock Valley ended with a 333 and Triton trailed at 344. Thornton withdrew.

Coach Herb Salberg's team is now tied with Illinois Valley for second in the N4C with a 22-8 record. Joliet leads at 26-4. Harper is close behind in fourth with a 21-9 mark. Triton is 9-21, Rock Valley is 5-25 and Thornton is last at 1-29.

CD's Lisa Svabek, a consistently-winning No. 4 player, shows her strong overhead volley shot.

Super Duper Mary Muillenburg slams the ball toward the futile efforts of a Northern Illinois player during volleyball action Tuesday night. However, Muillenburg and CD fell to NIU 6-15, 13-15, 15-5, 14-16.

Volleyballers improving despite a losing record

The DuPage's women's volleyball team's record dropped a notch down to 14-16 with a 6-15, 13-15, 15-5, 14-16 loss to Northern Illinois late Tuesday night.

The unpredictable team split eight matches last week.

"The team has improved very much," coach June Grahn said. "Now we're working for consistency and we'll try to peak at the sectionals Nov. 3-4."

After a duo-loss to Mundelein and Moraine Valley last week the Dupers had a team meeting. Whatever was said had a positive effect, because the Dupers came back on Thursday to top Rock Valley in an exciting contest, 12-15, 16-14, 16-14 and 15-13.

The next day DuPage squared off with two more teams and came away with a split. College of Lake County topped the Dupers, 9-15 and 11-15, but Grahn's squad came back to beat Chicago State, 15-7, 1-15 and 15-12.

Closing out the hectic week, the DuPage women participated in the Lake Forest Invitational on Saturday. They opened with a loss to the hosts, 15-5, 13-15 and 4-15, but rebounded by topping Lakeland, Wis., 15-9, 15-7, and Barat, 15-12, 16-14.

This week the squad will travel to the Illinois Central Invitational Saturday to face Western Illinois University's junior varsity, Illinois Central, Parkland College and Spoon River.

Grahn also announced that the team has added another member, freshman Janet Ristow of Elmhurst.

Chaps collar Bulldogs in 2nd-half explosion

By Larry LoVetere

The DuPage Chaparrals exploded in the 2nd half Saturday to collar the Thornton Bulldogs, 35-14. The Chaps resembled a stick of dynamite with a long wick. It takes a long time to go off, but when it does, look out.

The Chaps had nothing but trouble in the 1st half. Wide receiver Darryl Weatherspoon returned a punt 87 yards for a touchdown only to have it nullified by a penalty. Fullback Scott Connell fumbled the ball to the Bulldogs deep in Chap territory to set up the only score of the 1st half.

Thornton's Gaunty dogged it in from the one-yard line and the Chaps went into the locker room at half time down 7-0.

DuPage Coach Bob MacDougall discussed the first half. "Our offense wasn't clicking, our defense didn't hit like they hit in the 3rd and 4th quarters (today)."

There must have been some spirited speeches made at halftime, because the Chaparrals came out for the 2nd half and exploded.

They mopped up the field with Thornton in the 3rd period, scoring 28 unanswered points.

Thornton received the kickoff and started first and ten at their own 12-yard-line. They finished there too. The DuPage defense stymied Thornton on three downs, and the Bulldogs had to punt from their 12. Thornton's Kramp shanked the punt out of bounds at the 20.

The Chaps took over and after two penalties moved the ball to the 15; where quarterback Kevin Ahlgren flipped a pass to tight end Pat Shannon for the score. Reliable kicker Bret Horney converted the first of his five extra-point kicks.

After the DuPage defense forced Thornton to punt once again, halfback Cleveland West took off on a 28-yard touchdown dash putting the Chaps up, 14-7.

Again, the Chap defense forced Thornton's Kramp to punt. He shanked it and the offense took over on the Bulldog 36.

Ahlgren dropped back and tossed a 36-yard pass to wide receiver Gus Pasquini for a touchdown.

The defense held Thornton to 84 yards rushing and 48 yards passing and intercepted three passes. Coach MacDougall talked about the defense.

"Our defense set us up for a couple touchdowns, just boom, boom, boom."

Late in the period, the defense sacked Thornton's quarterback O'Neil, who fumbled the ball away. Defensive end John Bowes recovered on the Bulldog seven-yard line.

The offense took the field, and fullback Scott Connell battled for two yards. Tony Harris, who had seen limited action the past couple games because of a gimpy ankle, grabbed a handoff and scooted five yards for a touchdown, finishing off the Chaps' remarkable 28-point-3rd quarter.

The Chaps offense racked up 22 first downs, 194 yards rushing and 106 yards passing. Individually, West carried 12 times for 65 yards, Harris ran 21 times for 59 yards and Ahlgren hooped it five times for 43 yards. On the aerial end of things, Ahlgren completed eight of 19 passes for 109 yards. His favorite receiver was Gus Pasquini, who pulled in four footballs for 58 yards.

One of sophomore defensive back Kurt Weidle's two pass interceptions set up the final DuPage score, a five-yard run by Scott Connell.

This week's game is against N4C-rival Triton College. It's a home game on Saturday, Oct. 21 at Glenbard South High School. Game time is 1:30. You can hear the helmets colliding already.

Next two games for Chaparrals gives team chance to earn its salt

By Pete Garvey

With the snap of a finger, any one of three or four N4C teams can become the conference football champs of 1978.

Fortunately, one of these teams this year is DuPage's Chaparrals, who have the dubious task of facing two of those teams in the next two games. The Chaps have some type of advantage, however, because both contests are being played in DuPage Country.

This Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Glenbard South, the Chaparrals will take on a Triton Trojan team that technically can boast of something that CD can't, that of beating Harper. But Triton was guilty of using an ineligible player in that game and had to forfeit. Triton has appealed, and the decision is still pending. No love is lost when DuPage and Triton hook up.

At 1:30 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 29 at Glenbard South, DuPage hopes to put a good old fashioned Halloween jinx on Illinois Valley. Up until last week, the Apaches were ranked No. 2 in the nation, averaging close to 40 points per game. But last Saturday's 14-7 loss to Rock Valley has tossed the N4C like a tossed salad, and Illinois Valley may be running out of gas.

Kickers score three straight wins while offense guns into high gear

The Chaparral soccer team in the last three games has been something that they had hoped would be very much in evident during the course of the season, a high-powered offense. More often than not the high-powered offense was little more than a popgun.

But that was then, and with 15 goals in their last three games, coach Bob Graham's squad surely must feel more secure.

Following a 3-0 whitewash of Triton, CD met Lincoln Land and fed them a goose egg, a 7-0 score. Then came Tuesday's 5-0 blanking of Northwestern, in which Taras Jaworsky scored a pair for the Chaps on some super efforts. The shutout was No. 4 for Chap goalie Kevin Lyons as DuPage played its usually consistent defense.

Troubled by an inconsistent offense, DuPage soccer coach Bob Graham switched freshman Steve Barg from halfback to forward and the team responded with a 7-0 win over Lincoln Land last Saturday.

Operating one man short during the whole game, Lincoln Land never threatened DuPage. The Chaps outshot their foes with 45 shots on goal to only four.

Barg, described by Graham as "a distinct scoring threat every time he gets the ball," responded with two goals at his new position.

Graham hopes to give his new offensive alignment a real test when DuPage will host Waukesha, Forest Park and Cuyahoga, N.J., on Friday and Saturday in the annual DuPage Classic. The Chaps open play Friday at 11 a.m. when they face the 6-0-1 Waukesha team. The winners of the two games will clash at 2 p.m. on Saturday, with the consolation game at 11 a.m. Saturday.

Upcoming games at home for week

Day by day, here is a schedule of upcoming home matches for Chaparral sports teams during the next week.

FRIDAY: Soccer, 11 a.m., DuPage Classic, Golf, at the Village Links (Glen Ellyn).

SATURDAY: Soccer, 11 a.m., DuPage Classic, Football, 1:30 p.m., versus Triton Trojans at Glenbard South H.S., Cross County, 11 a.m., DuPage Invite Here's Mary Muillenburg again, who also doubles as the team captain, scoring more points for the Chaparrals. Coach June Grahn's young squad is improving rapidly, despite a number of setbacks this year.
