Student president, 3 senators quit

By Dan Faust

Student Body president Dan Bagley and half the Senate submitted resignations Tuesday. The resignations were not related.

Vice-president Roxane Papageorge should take over Bagley's spot when his resignation takes effect Friday, Jan. 12. It is uncertain who will become the new vice-president.

The three senators who resigned are Steve Dunaway (Kappa), Andrea Swanson (Kappa), and Barbara Angell (Delta).

In a 15-minute speech to the Senate, Bagley said he felt a "big disappointment" in Student Government.

"I had a lot of high hopes and aspirations for SG," he said, but "since September or October SG hasn't done a single thing it can be proud of. I feel like I've wasted most of the time I've spent in Student Government."

Bagley also accused SG of taking itself too seriously.

"They get together and play their own petty little versions of politics," he said. "I didn't join SG to become part of a debating league or play political games with aging member of the Vets Club."

At the time Bagley made public his plans to resign, SG's Constitution Committee was preparing impeachment charges against him. However, Bagley said that the committee would not be able to make the impeachment go through.

The main charges were that the president was not attending many of the meetings required in his job description. Bagley did not comment on these charges specifically.

He did note, though, "I don't think Mr. (Ted) Tilton (acting president of the college until Jan. 8) was disappointed with the job I was doing." He also has the support of a substantial number of students, he said.

Bagley also said in his speech that Constitution Committee chairman Dunaway's claim that SG's constitution needs to be "sanctioned" by the Board of Trustees is not true. Actually, the word does not appear anywhere in the charter, although Dunaway had earlier said it did.

Dunaway used the claim to get his committee to revoke the most recent SG constitution and revert to an older one, which he said was "the last sanctioned" version.

"The older constitution specifies that the Constitution Committee chair is directly in line for the presidency," Bagley noted. He added that Dunaway and some of his friends have "made it clear" that Dunaway wanted to work his way to the top of the ranks in Student Government.

Dunaway later responded, "I will not, if Dan Bagley resigns, take over as vice president," adding that he would resign from his chairmanship if necessary.

Then, at the end of the meeting, he resigned his Senate seat with a letter of resignation he wrote by hand during the meeting. He said his extensive involvement in SG was making it hard to maintain a good grade point average necessary to complete his educational goals. He said his resignation was in the best interest of both himself and his family, but not the students.

Angell resigned because she is no longer a student at DuPage. She transferred to another school to continue her educational work toward a medical career. Angell was Election Committee Chairman.

Swanson did not note a reason for her resignation. She left the position of Public Relations Chairman.

Only three senators are now left in Student Government, though 14 positions are available. The next elections aren't scheduled until Spring Quarter, but the Senate is trying to recruit new candidates for appointment to positions.

Sen. Katie Clemens (Psi) is expected to resign next week. She plans to transfer to a Massachusetts college where she was recently accepted. Twelve seats will be open after she leaves.

In other business, the Senate approved a bill to place $250 at the disposal of political science instructor Cynthia Ingols to help pay for students to attend a Model State Legislative Session. According to Dunaway, who introduced the bill, Student Activities has promised to match the $250 figure SG is supplying with funds from that office.

Ingols is to supply a report to the Senate within three weeks of the trip, including receipts to account for how the money was used. Finance Committee chairman Ray Conney noted that a similar provision will be written into any future bills granting money to college groups, so that the Senate knows how the funds it provides are being used.

The Senate also approved the following items:

- A resolution commending Tilton on his job while acting president. The resolution said he showed a "definite concern for the Student Body...and proved that students and administration can work together."

- Appointment of Student Comptroller Valerie Prohammer as SG Budgeting Officer, to take charge of SG's role in budgeting Student Activities funds for next fiscal year. It also approved the forming of an ad hoc budget committee to work with Prohammer.

- Approved a bill to set up an SG Grant Board to work with the Financial Aids office in distributing SG-sponsored grants.

Resignation old stuff for SG presidents

Chances are four out of 10 that a Student Body president will resign.

Dan Bagley's resignation Tuesday makes him the fifth of 13 presidents to quit. Statistically speaking that is 38.5 percent.

DuPage's first Student Body president, Russ Whitacre, completed his term in office in November of 1967.

Edward Hummel was president for the 1967-'68 school year.

The first president to resign was Thom O'Donnell, president for the '68-'69 year, who resigned in November of 1969. O'Donnell officially gave reasons of personal problems and health for his resignation. He later admitted that he felt student government was a joke and nothing he could do would change it.

Nanci Alumbaugh, vice-president at the time of O'Donnell's resignation, became president until Fred Robinson was elected in 1970.

Robinson resigned in February of 1971. Ill health was cited as the cause.

Tom Biggs, vice-president during Robinson's term, took over for the rest of the term. He did not run for re-election.

John Hrubec was elected president in May of 1971. He served through the '71-'72 school year.

Nick Sebastian served as Student Body President during the '72-'73 school year. His replacement was Rick Tabicz.

Tabicz resigned in October of 1973. Tabicz was cited for missed meetings, failure to keep office hours and the inability to maintain a working relationship with his staff.

After the Tabicz resignation Student Government dissolved. It was not until April of 1975 that the next president, Maria LeClaire, was elected.

Although repeatedly pressured to resign, LeClaire completed her term in office in May of 1976.

David Starrett served as president from May of 1976 through Spring quarter of '77. Starrett was also repeatedly pressured to resign.

Starrett's replacement, Joe Bates, resigned in April of 1978. Bates said he needed more time to improve his GPA. He had been formally reprimanded for not making himself available to students.

Dan Bagley was elected as the 13th Student Body President in May of 1978. He resigned Jan. 9.

Philharmonic in Chicago appearance

CD's New Philharmonic conducted by Harold Bauer will be featured during the First Chicago Center's lunchtime concert series on Tuesday, Feb. 6.

The concert will be held at the First National Bank Building Plaza in Chicago from 12:15 to 1 p.m. Guest artist will be Russian pianist Dmitry Paperno and the featured work will be Mozart's piano concert #22 in E flat.

Tickets are $2.50 at the door. The musical program will also be carried on WFMT radio.

For further information, call ext. 2369 or 2373.

CD night man plays tic-tac-toe and wins big

Ron Berrier of Lombard, a night custodian at K Bldg., is the recent winner of $5,000 in the Tic-Tac-Toe Instant Lottery.

The winnings will send Berrier, his wife Barbara and their three children on a dream vacation to Disney World in Florida.

The money will also be used to catch up on bills and to pay off the family car.

Berrier said, "I bought a 50-cent lottery ticket once in a while but now I plan to buy two a week".

Enrollment nears 12,000

Late registration here may boost enrollment over the 12,000 mark for winter quarter.

Enrollment for the first day of winter quarter was 11,899. This figure is expected to climb, since registration is still open. Official enrollment figures will be announced Friday in the 10th Day Report from the Registration office.

Winter Quarter '78 recorded 11,606 students registered on the first day of classes. That is 239 students less than this year's first day figures.

Some 1,029 more students had registered by the 10th day of Winter '78. Official enrollment for last year's winter quarter was 12,698.

Registration this quarter was 4,099 students less than last fall quarter when 15,998 students were registered on the first day. By the 10th day 556 more students had registered for a total of 16,654.

Fall '78 saw an increase of 903 students from the figures from the year before. Enrollment in Fall '77 was 15,751.

It takes all kinds

While most of us were huddled indoors or shivering in cars that wouldn't start, this hardy fisherman near A Bldg. was putting the Arctic temperatures to work for him. He is a student at the National College of Chiropractic in Lombard and if you think he was out there, sprawled on his stomach on the ice just for fun, guess again. Those are bluegills in his bucket and they make real good eating.

SG's illness is curable

If I were a doctor, I'd say that Student Government has just about every disease in the book — fortunately, there's a cure.

The carrier of this chronic illness is its constitution.

In its present form, the document is wide open to interpretation and is stock, lock and barrel full of loopholes and technicalities which merely foul up the system. In simple language, the constitution hinders progress of Student Government rather than aiding it.

SG has been so busy trying to clean up the mess it made of itself that it hasn't been getting anything constructive done in the past few months.

They've been trying to impeach their president. They've been questioning how much executive officers (i.e. president, vice president, and comptroller) should get paid. They've been wondering if the constitution they've been working under for the past two years or so is really valid... They've been wasting time.

SG's president and three of the senators (that's half of them) resigned this week.

By next week another senator will be leaving and only two of 14 spots will still be filled.

It happens every year.

The most sensible solution at this point would be to write an entirely new constitution, abolishing Student Government and creating a Student Senate. The Senate should consist of a number of senators, one of which would serve as chairman.

The position of vice president could be eliminated with the chairman running the meetings. The responsibilities of comptroller could be taken over by a Senate Finance Committee chairman, eliminating that position. The President's office could be replaced by a "spokesman" — someone who is there solely to act as a middleman between the Senate and the college administration. The Senate could set up additional committees to take care of elections, PR, and other matters such as record-keeping.

It is obviously a simpler form of student representation, a less expensive form, and certainly a far more efficient form.

Give us a helping leg

Begging is tactless.

A plea, maybe?

Or just an out and out cry for help?

HELP!

The Courier staff is on its last legs. Good help is hard to find, yet in the past we have found some of the best. But there comes a time to move on and unfortunately a number of Courier staffers chose this quarter to forge ahead in their academic careers.

This, needless to say, leaves us short-handed, as attested to by this mini-version of the weekly Courier.

We need writers. We need photographers. We need headliners. We need proofreaders. We need help.

Experience and skill (exception: photography) are not pre-requisites. All that is needed is a little spare time.

Why? you may ask.

- to improve writing skills.
- to be involved in the school.
- it looks good on a resume.
- to build self-confidence.
- (in the words of our sports editor) to meet girls.
- etc.

Why not?

Seeing through counseling

— counselors' perspectives

By Jim Frank, Barbara Schillon, Betty Yackley

We three Psi Counseling Faculty wish to use the next few minutes of your time to introduce ourselves, invite you to visit with us, and familiarize you with our way of work.

Our offices are located in A Bldg. on the 3rd floor: Barbara, A3010 - extension 2064; Jim, A3046B - ext. 2013; and Betty, A3046A - ext. 2012. You are most welcome to contact us by dropping in to our offices, calling us or scheduling an appointment. Once you initiate that contact our counseling work truly begins.

We recognize, for a variety of reasons, that you may hesitate to approach us. We wish that were not so, but since neither we nor the institution require you to see us (nor do we want to) we hope these words may lessen your hesitation.

Counseling, as we see it, is first and foremost to listen to you and accept where you are. Then comes appropriate responding to you. Sometimes responses lead to suggesting options to you which you can react to and utilize if you choose, exploring with you the consequences of choosing each option.

Sometimes we also simply assist you to implement previously made decisions. At other times we may respond with suggested informational resources.

These may include printed material such as the Student Planning Bulletin, occupational, educational, and personal testing possibilities, contacts with other faculty and/or community contacts. As you can see, we perceive our counseling process to be an honest effort to meet your needs as you present them to the three of us; be they educational, career, personal, recreational, social or all of the above.

We believe that you might benefit from an opportunity to talk with someone who is skilled and will listen.

Students, after meeting with us, frequently comment on an increased awareness of their decision-making process and feel better about their capabilities.

As you can see from our pictures, we are not look-alikes. Our interest in you is similar, however, for we agree that working with people at College of DuPage is exciting, challenging, and satisfying.

This, we hope gives you a clearer picture of what counseling is in Psi. Who we are may best be learned as you meet us personally. That certainly would be our preference.

Almost a 'G' rating for super-effective movie

By Maxmillian Vladavarenkashov

"Superman" is probably the best clean movie I've seen in years. It's also the only clean movie I've seen in years, but let's not discuss that. It could be rated "G," except for three things:

1. one double-entendre line from Lois Lane; 2. Valerie Perrine's tiny costumes and plaintive plea, "Why can't I get it on with the good guys?"; and 3. "G" movies don't sell.

The script, the work of five or six writers including Mario Puzo and the team of Benton & Newman, who did "It's a Bird, It's a Plane, It's Superman" on Broadway, is laced with wit that hits you a lot harder because you don't expect it.

I walked in expecting either a dead serious movie, which would be bad, or a 70's version of Adam West and Burt Ward, which would be worse. It's a very balanced mixture, with one exception, which I'll get into later.

Christopher Reeve is brilliant. He creates two such different characters that you finally believe that Superman can convince people that he's Clark Kent just by putting on glasses and combing his hair. It's really hard to say enough about the two great performances this guy hands in.

The special effects will undoubtedly get an Academy Award because they don't look like special effects. They look like they are actually happening. Everything that Superman can do in the comics, he does here. Changing his costume at super speed, turning himself into a large drill, and especially flying.

Brando's many-moneyed moments are pretty much worth the cash he got. He lends sheer class to Jor-El that few could. He seems abnormally grave, but I suppose I would, too, if I knew the world was going to pull a Jimmy Hoffa and no one believed me.

Margot Kidder is great as Lois Lane but her performance is over-shadowed by Reeve's.

I've never been a fan of Valerie Perrine's, as I believed her to be an incompetent actress, but with this picture, I have to reverse myself and state quite emphatically that she is now almost competent. Actually, she does a nice job. I was surprised.

In minor roles, Glenn Ford as Jonathan Kent and Jackie Cooper as Perry White came off best, especially Cooper. Of course, I had been expecting an impersonation of John Hamilton, who played White in the TV show, and who was one of the few people whose acting could make me vomit.

Now, to the PROBLEM:

In the comics, Lex Luthor is a master scientist who does practically anything he wants and gets away with it - until you-know-who gets him. The authors have turned him into the Joker, a Batman villain. The reasoning behind this is simple. The Joker is the most popular villain in comics. Luthor is not, because the Joker has a sense of humor and Luthor is the most relentlessly humorless man on Earth. In short, a good villain, but a dull character. So they livened him up. Gave him wit. And two moron assistants.

The wit is a fairly welcome addition, but the two moron assistants are comic book traditions that can really be done without, and are just put there so Luthor himself can wonder why he hired them.

Not that the performances are bad. Ned Beatty is acceptable as Otis, and Gene Hackman is fine as Luthor, it's just that some of the things they have to do are out of place with the overall tone of the movie.

The only really dead spot is during the pretty nice aerial ballet with Superman and Lois, where a really horrible "song," "Can You Read My Mind?" is talked by Lois on voice over.

And thank God the only slow motion shot during the action scenes is one to let the viewer see Superman catching a bullet that is heading for Lois.

The film is held together by, in order of importance, Reeve, the special effects, the script, the direction and Brando, who keeps the first part interesting.

The film is about two hours and 15 minutes long; one hour and a half if you lop off the credits.

But this is a highly entertaining, witty film. And one (huzzah, huzzah) that you kids can take your parents to see.

One reason I've heard given for not seeing this movie is "I've seen it all on television."

Like hell you have.

Talking transfer.

Don Dame

If you plan to transfer to the University of Illinois (Urbana-Champaign) for the fall semester 1979, you should apply early. U. of I. will begin accepting applications for Fall 1979 on February 1, and has an equal consideration period for all transfer applicants until March 15.

Applications with supporting credentials submitted by the March 15 deadline will have the best chance for admission. Applications received after March 15 will have a reduced chance of admission and may be denied for lack of space.

Preference will be given to transfer applicants who have completed 90 or more quarter hours prior to the fall semester 1979.

Not only is it necessary to have an application for admission on file at U. of I. by March 15, but all supporting credentials must also be on file by March 15.

Supporting credentials for transfer students include the following:

1. An official high school transcript. Call the high school you attended and request they send your transcript directly to the Office of Admissions and Records, University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, 177 Administration Building, Urbana, Illinois

2. Official transcript(s) of all college work attempted. To have an official College of DuPage transcript sent to U. of I., you need to fill out a "Request for Transcript" form in our Office of Records, (K-106). You will also need to send an official transcript(s) from any other college(s) you have attended.

3. List of courses for winter quarter. Include in the application for admission a list of course enrolled in for winter quarter. List the course title, department, course number and quarter hours credit for each course.

4. Tentative list of spring (summer) quarter courses. Again, list the course titles, department, course number and quarter hours credit for each course. No consideration is given to any application for admission by the U. of I. until all of the above required supporting credentials are received by their Office of Admissions and Records.

Applications for admission to the University of Illinois can be found in the Planning and Information Center for Students (PICS) in the LRC and in the Student Assistance Center (A2012).

'Fantasticks' opens here Jan. 18

"The Fantasticks," the long running off-Broadway play which combines fantasy and reality in a charming parable, will be directed by B. F. Johnston in its performances at CD January 18 through 27.

The eight-character play is distinctive in many ways. It has no scenery to speak of. The characters are realistic but at the same time stylized. It is intended ideally for an open stage, a simple space surrounded on three sides by the audience.

First staged in 1960, "The Fantasticks" has played in over 5,000 American cities and 80 foreign countries and is the longest-running musical in the world. Among its eight songs is the much-loved "Try to Remember."

The CD cast includes Brian Daly, Mary Braher, Andrew May, Larry Capps, William Meisenbelder, Walter Wingerter, Anthony Cesaretti and David Finch.

According to Johnston, "The Fantasticks" is a tight little musical. A small cast, recognizable characters, a simple set, involvements of all the characters in a single plot, and lovely songs with small ensemble accompaniment create a very enjoyable unity of presentation."

"Although I am somewhat of a cynic in real life," Johnston said, "I enjoy the romanticism of the first act of 'The Fantasticks.' The reason, I suspect, is that the balloon of sentimentality is pricked by reality in the second act. All the main characters finally have to face the fact that moonlight and roses are fine, but the scrutiny of sunlight will show our real problems."

"The Fantasticks" will be presented in the new Performing Arts Center in M Bldg. on Jan. 18, 19, 20, 25, 26 and 27 at 8:15 p.m.

Tickets for the general public are $2 and may be purchased at the door. Admission is free for CD students with ID cards.

Free forum series to look at death, dying

The veil of mystery and fear surrounding death and dying will be examined in a series of community forums on "Death and Dying: Challenge and Change" this winter and spring co-sponsored by College of DuPage.

An opportunity for those attending to react to the presentations and express their own views will be provided at each forum activity. They are free and open to the public.

The first forum is scheduled from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 6, in the Performing Arts Center of M Bldg. The topic will be "Death in Contemporary Society" with William A. Leppert, Ph.D., dean of the CD Alternative Learning Unit, as moderator.

Guest speaker will be Robert Fulton, Ph.D., professor of sociology and director of the Center for Death Education and Research at the University of Minnesota.

"The Experience of Dying" will be the topic of the second forum on Tuesday, Feb. 20, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the Community House, Hinsdale.

Moderator will be Patricia Fauser, Ph.D., a philosopher. Panel members will be Dr. Larry Ulrich, associate professor and vice president for religion and medicine at the Evangelical Hospital Association, and Marge Lyons, RNMA, head of the counseling program at the Highland Park Hospital, a crisis and nurse counselor and hospice supervisor. The third panelist will be announced at a later date.

The third forum will be a debate on "Resolve — We should enact death with dignity statutes into public policy." This will be held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Thursday, March 8, in the auditorium of the DuPage County Complex in Wheaton.

Moderator will be Harold Rafter, executive director of the American Funeral Directors Association. Taking the affirmative view will be Kenneth Vaux, Ph.D., associate professor of ethics, Department of Internal Medicine, University of Illinois. His opponent will be Dr. Stanley Shade, MD and Ph.D., professor of medicine and chief of the hematology section at the Department of Medicine, University of Illinois.

The fourth forum will be held in the auditorium of Naperville North High School from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 28. Mary Ann Santucci, director of the CD nursing program, will be the moderator of the program on "Defining and Understanding Bereavement, Mourning and Grief." Guest speaker will be Glen W. Davidson, Ph.D., of the Department of Psychiatry at Southern Illinois University School of Medicine.

The final forum will deal with "Death and the Human Condition: The Artists' Views and Insights" with Jean Hardy Robinson as moderator. It will be held during the week of April 9. The exact time and location will be announced later.

WDCB, 90.9 FM, will broadcast each community forum live and rebroadcast the program twice during each week of the community forum.

For more information, call ext. 2147.

TRANSFER TAPES

PICS, J134B, has "Talking Transfer" tapes, recorded conversations with former CD students now attending other schools. Find out what they think of the college or university you might wish to attend.

CD's brand new president Dr. Harold McAninch officially took over his duties this week. If the pile of papers on his desk is any indication, there's lots of get-acquainted work ahead for him.

Graduation petitions should be filed now

Students expecting to graduate this year are urged to file a petition for graduation now.

Petitions may be picked up in the Records Office, K106. Students are urged to become familiar with the degree requirements at once. These may be found in the college catalog or the SPB, or may be obtained in the Records Office.

After you submit your graduation petition, the Records Office staff will evaluate your college transcripts, both C/D and any from transfer schools. You will be mailed a copy of the evaluation which specifies the requirements yet to be fulfilled for the degree.

You can use this evaluation to help select courses for your final quarters at C/D while at the same time be assured that you are taking courses needed for your specific degree.

The evaluations are updated each quarter during the year of expected graduation by the Records Office so there is a current record of your progress toward meeting degree requirements. This is a very time consuming process, so it is to your advantage to file early.

Scholarships

Students may still apply for the Elmhurst Panhellenic Scholarship, which was already announced. The scholarship offers $200 to $1,000 to students who demonstrate need. Applicants must be residents of Elmhurst area with 2.0 grade point average.

Applications are available in the Students Financial Aids Office, K-142.

The deadline date is Feb. 1.

The Naperville Junior Women's Club is offering a scholarship that may range up to $400 to a College of DuPage student.

The student should have a minimum grade point average of 3.0. The recipient will be selected on the basis of financial need, scholarship, and leadership by a Naperville Junior Women's Club committee. The applications are available in the Student Financial Aid Office in K142. The deadline is Feb. 20.

The DuPage County Health Improvement Association is offering a $750 scholarship for three College of DuPage students who are enrolled in any area of health science and health education. Applicants must be residents of DuPage County, must meet scholastic standards and demonstrate financial need.

Applications are available in the Students Financial Aids Office, K142 and in the Nursing Program Office, A2100.

The deadline for application is Feb. 3.

Work-study jobs available to vets

The CD Veterans Affairs office is accepting applications for work study positions for both on-campus and off-campus jobs.

To be eligible, a veteran must be a full-time student (12 hours or more) and must currently be eligible for benefits under the GI Bill.

Any student veteran who has free time in the mornings or afternoons may apply. The position pays $2.90 per hour, is tax free, and does not detract from GI Bill entitlement. There are also off-campus positions; however, students must be able to provide their own transportation.

Interested students may contact Mike Skyer or T. C. Cramer at ext. 2204, between 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. weekdays, or may stop in at K136.

Babysitter wanted for one 6-year-old girl; primarily weekend evenings (Friday, Saturday and Sunday.) Own transportation; references required; Briarcliff area. Call Mrs. Lewis at 896-5977 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. or at 665-9090 after 6 p.m.

Pleasant work taking phone inquiries and general office work in the Oak Brook area. Various 4 to 6 hour shifts available. Call 655-0400.

Clubhouse supervisor needed. Some light maintenance. Part-time weeknights and weekends. $3.25 per hour starting pay. Call 960-2850.

Guys and gals: Join the exciting field of sales. Work your own hours. Exciting opportunity to make some good money. Call 655-0400.

Pregnant? And you didn't mean to be? Birthright can help you. Free, confidential service. Call anytime, 968-6668.

Every Man for Himself and God Against All

This unusual film won the Grand Jury Prize at the Cannes Film Festival. Its main character is a young man, barely above the animal level, who is taught to speak, read and write by the people in a small German town. Then mysteriously, he is murdered. Bruno D., a non-actor with a background incredibly similar to that of the young man, gives a magical, unforgettable performance in the leading role.

Chaps slow Wolves, take over 1st

By Pete Garvey
Sports Editor

In front of the largest home crowd of the year, the Chaparrals just plain showed 'em how in defeating Joliet's Wolves 86-74 Tuesday night.

The win moved CD into sole possession of first place in the N4C, while the Wolves fell into a second place tie with Harper. The Chap track record is 4-0 in conference and 14-2 overall.

But according to DuPage coach Don Klaas, he was the last one in the world to think that his young crew would have been 14-2.

"No way," said Klaas. "At the start of the season, there are a lot of question marks that I as a coach have to answer. It looked at the start as though we had a lot of them. I hoped for little better than a .500 record."

But not to be, as the Chaparrals outduelled the Wolves in every category, taking Joliet out of their game plan with devastating efficiency.

"We try to take away one major part of a game plan," said Klaas. "If we can do that, we can win."

Not only did DuPage win, but Andy Burton plugged in his scoring machine to account for 37 Chap points.

"He is a great player and when he senses things, he takes over," explained Klaas.

Joliet stormed out to a 9-2 lead, but it took Burton to get DuPage on the right track again with a double-pumper that fell in.

Gutty Jim Cooney, the most impressive defensive player on the Chaps, put a clamp on Wolf Rico Ellis, holding the 6-3 guard to 13 points, way below his average.

But it was Cooney's two bombs from way out that brought CD back to a 9-9 tie and from there it was a slow painful death for Joliet.

After another tie, this one at 30 apiece, Mark Shannon flipped in an offensive rebound to send DuPage on a tear that produced a 43-38 half time lead.

The second half brought some changes noticed by Klaas that was the Wolves' undoing.

The Chap mentor sent Shannon inside Joliet's strong defense and collected high passes en route to 14 second-half points.

After Shannon broke open the game by hitting from the top of the key to make it 69-61, it was all down hill from there for the Chaps. A big run ended with Shannon playing bombs away from the baseline making the situation 79-66.

All that was left to do was for Billy Carter to hit on three free throws and for Cooney to bag a pair of free ones and that was all she wrote as DuPage laid Joliet to rest 86-74.

Saturday night brings super-slick, super-quick Olive Harvey to CD for a 7:30 date with Chaparrals.

Chaps hood Hawks placing first in N4C

By Kevin Courtney

Even though the game was for first place in the N4C, it wasn't exactly what you would call a classic.

On the bright note, DuPage 3-0, played its first conference game away from home and narrowly won a 57-55 decision over the Harper Hawks, 2-1.

The Chaps overall record jumped to 13-2 while Harper's fell to 8-5.

Mark Shannon's 14 rebounds and Tracy Scott with his eight assists, were definite keys to the Chaparral win.

A contest close all the way but sloppily played, saw a halftime margin of 28-22 DuPage, never the less. The second half brought a nail-biter.

CD, surprisingly went to a four corner offense. DuPage up by seven and five minutes left in the contest tried to protect their thin lead. This maneuver backfired as the Hawks defense forced DuPage turnovers, 22 for the game, to cut the lead to one.

Andy Burton hit two clutch free throws on a one-and-one with 15 seconds remaining, to give the Chaps a 57-54 edge.

Harper added a free throw to end the scoring for the night, but gave CD a scare as Brad Sinclair missed an eight-footer at the buzzer.

Andy Burton led DuPage with 19, followed by Jim Cooney smoking-in 18.

For Harper, Sinclair had 14 while newcomer Mike Berry chipped in 12.

Chap coach Don Klaas explained the poor showing: "We are so up and down, which makes us so unpredictable". Klaas added that his team is "not that great of a ballhandling squad right now."

Dupers shell two foes; team mark up to 4-6

The CD women's basketball team has suddenly won two straight to up their record to 4-6

But getting there was the fun part.

After taking three weeks off for the Christmas holidays, the Dupers opened up the New Year by swamping Sauk Valley 86-49 and then, — get this — did something against Morton last Tuesday.

Whatever describes an 81-4 victory can say it best.

It wasn't so much that Morton was short, or inexperienced or just simply no good. It was all of the above.

Coach Meg Sheehan's Dupers used a variety of defenses to shake, rattle and roll the seemingly house-broken Panthers. From a full court press to two different zones, DuPage was able to move out to an 8-0 lead before Morton took a single shot.

Sooner or later, the Panthers did get some shots, but even then all the ball found was backboard.

In the meantime, the Dupers were ahead 22-0 on Janet Risto's lay up underneath.

With 10:04 left in the first half, Sheehan gave the bench a chance to get in the festivities and the subs performed admirably. Sue Boldebeck converted on two offensive rebounds to make matters 34-0.

Then to the delight of everybody except a sadist, Morton scored a bucket with 3:35 left in the half to make it 38-2.

The half ended with CD on top and looking way down, 40-2.

The second half was no different, as evidenced by the final score of 81-4.

The Sauk Valley victory was a high point for the Dupers so far, as the squad jelled for an impressive win.

"Our teamwork has really come along," said Sheehan. "We used a pressure defense that forced three turnovers on their first three possessions."

Chaparrals' Mark Shannon drives in for two of his 16 points past a pack of Wolves. Shannon scored 14 in the second half and added to Andy Burton's 37 as CD muzzled Joliet 86-74 to take over first in the N4C.

Loder saves face for grapplers

By Larry LoVetere

The College of DuPage wrestling team had a rough go of it last Saturday, with only one Chap matman posting a winning record against Triton, North Central and Muskegon.

Dave Loder, in the 142-pound class, came up with a perfect record against three opponents. His Triton foe had to forfeit and he then beat his opponents from North Central and Muskegon, 6-1, 6-3, respectively, to finish with another fine showing for himself.

Adding to the Chaps' misery are some injuries and some wrestlers hassling with eligibility problems.

Frank Brandle, Tony Malacarne and Bob McCue have all bit the dust with injuries, being forced to the sidelines for awhile.

Chap coach Al Kaltofen also might have to give up both of his heavyweight wrestlers. John Cobos and Doug Crawford, struggling with grades, may have eliminated themselves from competition.

Kaltofen commented on his sudden shortage of wrestlers, "It'll cost us six points every match. We're gonna have to scramble. The kids are down, but they'll come back. They have to."

The Chaps go up against Triton on Thursday and they take on Carthage Saturday.
