McA: Tampa move out

By Dan Faust

President Harold McAninch said he is "no longer interested" in a job opening as president of Hillsborough Community College (HCC) in Tampa, Fla. He was one of five final candidates for the post, it was learned earlier this week.

"Right now I don't have any intentions of leaving the College of DuPage," McAninch said Tuesday.

McAninch said "a friend" submitted his name to HCC as a candidate for president. McAninch himself later approved his name being kept under consideration, he said.

However, at that time he said he must be contacted to discuss details of any possible agreement before his name would be made public. He said the college broke that verbal agreement by releasing his name without contacting him at all. This is part of the reason he is no longer considering the position, he said.

McAninch moved to CD from Joliet Junior College (JJC) in January of 1979, after a friend submitted his name to the Board of Trustees here.

DuPage was having trouble at that time getting building programs moving, had just fired its first president following a newspaper expose series, and was in the midst of a grand jury investigation into the college.

McAninch played a key role in getting construction plans of CD's new Learning Resources Center underway during the past year. He also helped get the permanent campus built at JJC.

Hillsborough is said to have similar problems now.

When McAninch left Joliet, student newspaper staff there predicted he would not stay at CD for more than two years. "He wants something bigger," a former editor of the newspaper, Dave Clark, said.

However, McAninch said Tuesday, "There are too many things to do yet" at CD.

Planning is well underway for the new LRC, and in the beginning stages for a new Physical Education building. Among other goals McAninch has stated for the future are solving the interface and overlap problems between the Main Campus and the Open Campus, improved counseling, and improved relationships between the full and part time faculty.

Officials at HCC could not be reached for comment.

May require advising by 25th credit

By Ron Slawik

Students here may be required to see an adviser before they reach their 25th credit hour in order to register for any more courses.

That possibility was discussed at an Advising Task Force meeting Tuesday afternoon. The "25 mandatory advising" proposal was tabled until the next meeting in two weeks. But two other proposals were dumped at the meeting.

Carole Dobbie, committee chairperson, and the rest of the committee unanimously rejected these two proposals:

Mandatory advising that would have required students to have their schedule signed by an adviser every quarter before being allowed to enroll.

Assigning advisers to each student, whether the administrators did the assigning or the students picked their own advisers.

The committee did approve the formation of an Advising Center where students could go to get advising help and to set up an appointment with advisers in different fields. A rough draft proposal was submitted at the meeting by one of the subcommittees.

The proposal for the Academic Advisement Center called for a central office located in A Bldg. which would eventually be moved to the new LRC. It would be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday. The center would be staffed by one paraprofessional, one student worker, one counselor "on call" and at least one faculty adviser. Branch centers would be opened in the divisional lounges manned with faculty advisers one week before registration every quarter.

A proposal for classroom-based advising was approved. This envisions an instruction taking time out in class to discuss prepared advising materials.

The committee also agreed that all counselors, advisers, faculty and paraprofessionals should take part in new student advising.

Council suggests dumping late fees

All late registration fees could be eliminated by the fall quarter if the CD Board of Trustees approves a recommendation made by the Administrative Council.

According to Council chairman Chuck Erickson, the present late fees policy "cannot be enforced equitably for all CD students." Erickson said that those students who come in to register late and expect to pay the 50 cents per credit hour late fee end up paying it. On the other hand, he added, if a student registers late by mail and doesn't send along the required late fee, the registration office processes the registration anyway.

"It just isn't economically feasible to return a person's check with a letter saying that we require a late fee," Erickson said. "The cost to do this would be more than we would collect."

Erickson told the President's Advisory Committee Tuesday that the college would lose about $22,000 a year if the late fees policy is dropped.

"The committee tried to look at what is fair and equitable for all the students,"

Erickson said. "They also felt that the late fees policy is a negativism, a penalty approach to registration. And we don't want to give that impression in any way."

President Harold McAninch told PAC members that the building schedule for the new LRC is about 1½ months behind schedule. He explained that this was caused by discrepancies between the state and local fire regulations which have now been resolved.

McAninch also said that it has been suggested that an addition be made in the proposed guidelines for the Academic Regulations Committee. He said it would add a line "to the effect that in the event that a student asks the ARC for a waiver or a modification of the number of credit hours required for graduation, the president would have to give final approval."

Enrollment up 23% over spring, 1979

By Don Ball

Spring quarter registration totaled 14,936 students on opening day, a 23 percent increase over spring of 1979.

That means, according to the Office of Registration and Admissions, an increase of 2,809 students compared with last spring.

Full time equivalency enrollment also increased 16.6 percent over a year ago. There are now 7,424 FTE students compared with 6,364 in spring, 1979.

Most college officials, including Dr. Stephen Groszos, director of institutional research, feel that the predicted economic slump has contributed to CD's higher enrollment.

A sharp increase in enrollment is reported this spring, and Tuesday there was still a line in registration. Enrollment is up 23 percent over last spring.

Camp out on campus?

An overnight campout in the area just east of A Bldg. is planned as part of the Earth-Sun Day celebration at CD on April 21 and 22.

According to business instructor Roy Grundy, a member of the planning committee, the theme of the activity is "Life after '80."

"We are trying to renew the interest generated 10 years ago with the first Earth Day and a year ago with the first Sun Day. The combined celebration is to call attention to the environment around us and to share our ideas for the future," he said.

The campout will start at 8 p.m. on April 21 and Grundy said he hopes to have 30 to 50 overnights on campus. There will be an astronomy lecture later that evening.

Early the following morning there will be poetry readings and a light breakfast of natural foods. Then participants will break up into smaller groups to take part in such activities as a swamp tromp, tours of solar homes nearby, prairie tours and a jogging event of two to four miles on campus.

A side trip is set to a forest preserve in Naperville to observe the nuptial flight of woodcocks.

Expel man with gun

A man carrying a handgun was stopped by Security chief Tom Usry and another officer in A Bldg. outside of the machine shop at 2:40 p.m. Monday.

According to the police, the man was carrying a .38 caliber revolver in his jacket pocket. The man handed over the gun when asked to do so by Usry. The gun was not loaded. The man was also "encouraged" to hand over six bullets that were in his pants pocket.

The man, who was a CETA student here, was then taken to the office of William T. Gooch, dean of occupational education, and was informed by Gooch that he was "terminated" from the CETA program at this college. Gooch also told him that he was never to return to this college for having violated college policy.

The man said the gun was in his pocket by accident and asked if the situation could be overlooked. Usry and Gooch had to tell the man several times that he been expelled. After checking the gun for registration, Usry returned the gun. The ammunition was not returned.

This may look like the work of some mad artist who likes to paint doors on walls — but actually it's the work of CD construction people who have been having a busy time sealing up some doors and putting in others in a hallway in J Bldg.

$2 for a glass of beer —

But 'we had a ball in Daytona'

By Roberta Rinehart

Down in Daytona, the cost of beer — $2 a glass — may have been more painful than the sunburn.

In spite of the unusually high prices encountered for most food and beverages in the popular vacation spot, 136 CD students took advantage of the seven-day Florida vacation sponsored by Student Activities. The price of the trip ranged from $191 to $313, depending upon whether the student traveled by bus or by plane and the number of students per room.

Said Ted Podgorsky, one of the student participants: "The trip was the best time I have ever had at this school. Everybody who went on the trip got to know everybody else and we just had a ball."

The vacationers stayed at The Plaza Hotel in Daytona on Atlantic Avenue and were within walking distance of the Boardwalk, hundreds of bars, and the major sites of the city.

Although Pat Beans, Student Activities Program Adviser and the official adviser of the trip, said that some students rented cars, mopeds and bicycles, most of the students most of the time stayed around the hotel and the beach for fun.

Beans estimated that there were approximately 850 college students from at least 10 different schools staying at their hotel, including the 136 from CD. Podgorsky characterized their stay at the Plaza as "one big getting-to-know-one-another."

Besides the expected partying, the students went to the beach where they camped, swam, body surfed and suntanned. They went to Disneyworld for a day, visited the local bars and some went sightseeing.

Echo Travel, the Florida trip's travel agency, planned and organized a "belly-flop contest." The Budweiser Beer company donated promotional prizes for an "inter-collegiate" basketball tournament of the hotel's students. First prize for the winning basketball team was two cases of Budweiser beer and Busch beer T-shirts.

Of 16 five-person teams, CD's team, the Mixers, was the only team with girls as well as guys. The CD team tied for third and shared their prize, a case of Busch beer.

Beans said she had a wonderful time and that she was really impressed by "how neat CD students are." She said the students on the trip were a lot of fun, were very cooperative, and were highly supportive of one another and of her.

Guitarist to play at noon recital

Guitarist Pamela Kimmel will be featured at a noontime recital Friday, March 28, in the Studio Theater of M Bldg. There is no admission charge.

Kimmel has studied guitar with Jack Cecchini and Manuel Lopez-Ramos. She is a faculty member at Chicago Musical College of Roosevelt University where she has developed the degree program in classical guitar.

Kimmel has performed in solo recitals and chamber music programs throughout the midwest area.

Her program will include works by Sor, Bach, Villa-Lobos and Moreno-Torroba.

Storyteller here April 12

Reuven Gold, the heartwarming story teller, will lecture here at 7 p.m. April 12 in K127. His appearance is sponsored by Pathways to Awareness and also Trans-Personal Studies Program of Alpha One.

Gold has been featured in several newspapers and appeared on several television stations in Chicago. He has an M.A. and B.A. degree in Human Development from the University of Chicago.

There will be a $4 general admission charge, but the lecture will be free to CD students with identification.

Speaker cites impact of energy use, misuse

The wasteful use of the world's dwindling energy supply and the resulting destructive effects on the environment were the topics of discussion at the second in CD's three-part forum series, "Energy and the Way We Live."

"We've created urban congestion and suburban sprawl," said Gary Pitchford, director of the Office of Communications of the U.S. Department of Energy, who was the main speaker. "Things like the famous London fog . . . resulting from the burning of high-sulfur coal . . . give us an appreciation of the negative impacts of energy use and misuse," he said.

"Energy has contributed immensely to changes in our lifestyle," Pitchford continued. He cited a lengthening of the average lifespan roughly 30 years in the last century, and a significant drop in the infant mortality rate.

Pitchford spoke at the CD energy forum on March 19.

With oil supplies declining, Pitchford said that the country must plan to make the transition to renewable forms of energy, such as solar power or fusion. The short-term use of "coal or nuclear involves some tough choices," he said. "We have to decide what kind of society we really want."

Pitchford pointed out Sweden as a country with a comparable standard of living which uses 48 percent less energy per person. "Europeans use much more mass transportation and their cars are more efficient," he said. "They also do not rely so much on space heating and cooling. They don't demand that their homes be as cool in the summer or as warm in the winter."

Energy waste was the main topic of discussion by other panel members, Dr. Ronald Pine of the Institute for Environmental Awareness at George Williams College; Dr. Edward J. Kies, academic humanist and instructor of humanities at CD; and Roger Slisz, Glenbard West High School student.

"What is the good life anyway?" Dr. Pine asked. "Perhaps we are energy addicts. Japan has less energy consumption per capita but a far higher percentage of Japanese people are healthier, there is less crime, lower inflation and infant mortality rate, and the average person is better educated."

Both Kies and Slisz explained the need to look closely at how changes in energy use will affect society. "Ignorance is a grave problem," Slisz said. "Few people understand the new technology and what could result from nuclear waste spillage, a core meltdown . . ."

Slisz also added that high school-aged youths are concerned about possible drafting of men (or women) to go to the Middle East to defend America's foreign oil supplies.

Forensics again makes nationals

Capturing first place at the recent Regional Junior College Tournament in Harrisburg, Ill., the 14-member CD Forensics Squad is preparing for the upcoming national tournament.

The competition which will run from April 1 through 8 in Kansas City, Mo., will feature both public speaking and oral interpretation categories. Each member of the CD team will participate in four events.

Andrew May led the team in last week's regional, winning first place in overall individual events, including a first place in Poetry and Prose and sharing a second place with his partner, Pat Shikora, in Duet Acting with a scene from "The Importance of Being Earnest." May was also selected by the combined teams from seven states to receive the Don Haggarty Award for Outstanding Competitor.

Close on May's heels was Tony Keiling with a third in both Prose and Persuasion and a fourth in Poetry.

Pat Shikora was a multiple winner with a first in After Dinner

Speaking, a third in Rhetorical Criticism and a second in Duet Acting.

Duet Acting also scored a first place with Mark Zeman and Jerry Spivak in a cutting from the play, "Pavlo Hummel." Nancy Knott and Gary Ryder took a second place in duet acting in their first competition with Hollis Jay."

Brian Wiersema placed fourth in Extemporaneous Speaking.

The CD Reader's Theater Ensembles dominated the tournament, winning first with "Turns and Movies," a collection of Conrad Aiken's poems about the public and private lives of performers, staged and choreographed for visual as well as vocal affect. Directed by Jodi Briggs, it was suggested by former CD forensics student, Randy Schultz. The cast of five included Jerry Spivak, John Croy, Andrew May, Karen Eaton, and Doris Porter.

Placing third in Reader's Theater was CD's "Dr. Umlaut's Earthly Kingdom," a surrealist look at life, directed by B.F. Johnston. The cast members were Gary Ryder, Nancy Knott, Brian Wiersema, Mark Zeman, Tony Keiling and Patty Haeger.

The national competition will include a cross section of the country's junior college teams, including last year's winner, Orange County, California.

All interpretive events are excerpted from published works.

Both Extemporaneous and Impromptu events are unprepared speeches with three to five minutes allowed for organization of thoughts before speaking.

Student written events include Persuasion, Rhetorical Criticism, After Dinner Speaking, and Informative Speaking.

CD has placed within the top 10 in the national competition for the past nine years, under the direction of Jim Collie.

Besides Collie, Johnston and Briggs, Sally Hadley, a former CD speech teacher and forensics coach, has continued her interest with the team and will accompany them to the national tournament. She is now associate dean of communications.

This wood and fiberglass bench is one of two now in use in A Bldg. The CD interior design and graphics committee purchased the benches and is moving them to various spots in the building to get an idea of where such benches would get the most use.

'Naked man' suspect questioned, released

A suspect in the "naked man" case of Jan. 24 has been picked up, questioned and released, according to CD security chief Tom Usry.

The bizarre incident involved a nude man who harassed a woman in the J Bldg. parking lot during a snowstorm.

The man matched the description of the person who accosted several women during winter quarter, Usry said.

It is interesting to note, Usry said, that only one case of indecent exposure has occurred since then.

That incident happened during winter finals week. According to the police report, a man entered a room in J Bldg. on March 13 at 11 p.m. and dropped his pants in front of a woman who was alone in the room. She ignored him.

Discouraged, the man left but came back five minutes later. Again he pulled down his pants exposing his derriere to the woman and said "Look at me." He then pulled up his pants, tucked in his shirt and left.

The woman described the man as a white male, 22 to 23 years old, 5' 10" and 108 pounds, with dark brown shoulder length hair. He was wearing a blue polo shirt and blue jeans.

Free Film Festival has plenty of variety

Humor, drama and fantasy are three of the main attractions of the Student Activities Free Film Festival in the spring quarter.

The films will be shown free of charge at noon and 7 p.m. in A2015.

A cast of Gene Kelly, Donald O'Connor, Jean Hagen and Debbie Reynolds will star in the April 2 showing of "Singin' in the Rain." A wonder spoof on the glorious days of early Hollywood, this film is most noted for its superb choreography.

The first made-for-TV movie ever to be classified as cinematic art, "Duel" will be shown April 9. This 1971 man versus machine thriller helped launch the career of director Steven Spielberg.

"Lenny," which features Dustin Hoffman's electrifying performance as Lenny Bruce, is scheduled for April 16. This 1974 film gives insights to Bruce's obsessive bouts with drugs and the law that finally burned him out. The film also stars Valerie Perrine and Jan Miner.

Animation is the order of the day when "Milestones for Mickey: and Wizards" take to the screen April 23. The first is a charming retrospective tracing the highlights of the career of Mickey Mouse, while the latter is a 1977 animated movie with a variety of villains akin to those in Marvel comics.

"Arsenic and Old Lace" is a zany 118-minute 1944 play which is founded on the confrontation of the bizarre and apparently mundane. The cast includes Cary Grant, Josephine Hull, Raymond Massey and Peter Lorre. It will be shown April 30.

John Steinbeck's novel of dustbowl poverty, "The Grapes of Wrath," will be brought to the Student Activities screen May 7. This 115 - minute masterpiece stars Henry Fonda, John Carradine and Jane Darwell.

Woody Allen's warm and wonderful 1972 comedy, "Play It Again, Sam," is scheduled for May 14. It was his first film with Diane Keaton; a relationship that would eventually bring them both Oscars for their work in "Annie Hall."

John Wayne stars as the Ringo Kid in the May 21 version of "Stagecoach." The classic 1939 western was the first to introduce moral dilemmas and character studies into an action-oriented plot.

Praised by the New York Times as being "... one of the best films of the year," the sophisticated adult film, "The Graduate," will be shown May 18. Dustin Hoffman, Anne Bancroft and Katherine Ross are featured in this movie.

LEGAL SECRETARIES

A legal secretary seminar will be held March 29 in A1000, sponsored by the DuPage County Legal Secretaries Association and the college.

The seminar will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday with registration. The first speaker will be Kathryn Kelley, LSA president, followed by many professionals in the business.

There will be helpful hints in job hunting, a beginning legal vocabulary, a discussion on court reporting, and job comparisons in legal work.

Letters to the editor

A letter of thanks from the No. 1 team in the nation

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN;

On behalf of my teammates, I would like to thank all of the people from the area who contributed to the incredible success story that was the 1980 DuPage Chaparral Ice Hockey Team.

First of all, we have to extend our thanks to the fans who braved the long trip to desolate Virginia, Minnesota by car, plane and van. Your enthusiasm at the games was an incredible inspiration to all of us. Your post-championship laryngitis was proof of that enthusiasm. We would also like to thank all of those people who braved the freezing Icearena in Downers Grove to watch our home games, especially those on staff at CD, including coaches Klaas, McDougall, and Kaltofen as well as instructors Leppert and Cunningham. A very special thanks is extended to Coach Dave Webster of the tennis team for chafing our band of aspiring Harvardites around Quincy street and giving wonderful support and backing to our team members off the ice.

We would like to thank trainer Jerry Nowesnick who patched us up and kept us fit to play throughout the grueling schedule and practices that left us drained by the time it was all over. We would like to thank all of our instructors who were kind enough to cooperate with us in understanding the amount of time off that it was necessary to take in order to make such an Olympian assault on the National Tournament, and for making adjustments to coincide with those needs.

We thank the parents of our team members for their support throughout the season, their constant encouragement and involvement which served to help keep the whole ball rolling. We also thank them and all of you who helped in our endeavors to raise funds for our Boston trip which was such a valuable tool in preparing us for Nationals. We thank all of the kids who tried out for the club and failed to make the final cut for pressing each and every one of us to work that much harder to get a position with the club in the first place.

We would like to recognize all of those who helped us off of the ice through encouragement personally, as well as those who talked our program up and served to aide us in bettering our reputation, like sportswriter Tom Nelson, Channel 5's Greg Gumble, the Keefe's, the Schwannabeckes, Tom Lukens, and Mrs. Lemons. We will never forget the help given to us, and the patience shown us by the staff of the Athletic Dept. Office, as well as the support we received from the College's Administration.

Our heartfelt thanks to Assistant Coach Ed Plannert who took time away from his business to tutor us in skating, provide a listening ear, and babysit for the over-privileged. We will never forget you, Pflum.

Last, but certainly not least, we say thank you to Coach Salberg. You worked to get us the toughest schedule you could possibly get. You provided us with excellent equipment. You molded us into a team and proved that your system works. You were firm when you had to be and lenient when understanding was called for. You proved that coaching can be done without angry tirades, and you proved to the Nation that Illinois can produce players capable of playing with the best in the country by sticking to your system of five practices and two games.

You realized a lifelong dream that night, and I shall never forget the emotion that surrounded you as you carried the Championship Trophy for the first time on the bench. We had a few rocky spots during the season, and some of us couldn't understand why you did certain things the way you were doing them, but all of us agree that what we felt that night, and in the days that followed, the pride in accomplishment, was worth every second. This was a culmination of 12 years of hard work for you, indeed a labor of love. We are happy that we are the ones who brought this dream to reality, and we are happy to be able to share it with you.

Thanks, Chief.

Sincerely,
 Tom Adrahtas

Burn your voter's card, Mr. Gunn

Dear Mr. Gunn:

In your most recent article relating to Eric Heiden and past Olympic heroes, I must agree with your overall issues. I do draw the line to your statements, "maybe that is the real reason behind President Carter's move to boycott the Summer Olympics in Moscow. . . If it will spare us one more 'star', then he has got my vote." Matt, I really think you turned the Gunn on yourself with such shallow evaluation of why you would vote for a certain person for President of the United States.

First of all, I suggest you read or listen to the current news that has explained the pride Russia would have from their staged performance for our people visiting their country during the games. Ironically, the Russian citizen hasn't really been told why we are not participating in the games, or that very few of their people know they have troops in Afghanistan. You seem to forget the freedom of the press in Russia is only what the government wants the people to know.

I also suggest you research Carter's track record, not in the Olympics, but as President. Our income tax has increased three times, at least. Our social security deduction has increased. He wants to put an automatic income tax on all earned interest in all saving institutions. Our inflation rate has gone from 4% to a projected 17%. The list goes on, and on, why one should consider their voting power and where it will go.

Last quarter you got into interviewing Iranian students. When the political issues were so hot it only added to the fire on campus. This quarter you're voting for a president because of some shallow reason. Why don't you start researching some of these issues before subjecting the students to your half-assed ideas? If that idea doesn't suit you then burn your voter's card instead of your draft card this year.

Sincerely,
 Marilyn Schmidt

(Editor's note: Matt Gunn has written a weekly column in the Courier for the past two quarters. He has, however, transferred to a four-year institution, and so will no longer be writing for us.)

Athletes bring pride here

Many of CD's sports teams have brought honor to the college during the past few weeks, placing highly in national competitions.

The ice hockey team from DuPage has earned the rank of Number One in the nation among community college teams. Last year, CD's hockey team came in second in the country.

The hockey team brought home the first national sports title ever for the College of DuPage.

The women's gymnastics team from CD placed eighth in the U.S. in National Junior College Athletic Association competition. And team member Sue Waldschmidt came home a big ninth nationwide on the uneven parallel bars, and 15th in all-around scoring.

The men's swimming team finished 12th in the nation in NJCAA competition.

Our track team, ending the season with its highest point total ever, placed 15th in the U.S.

The wrestlers from CD finished a close 16th in NJCAA bouts.

College of DuPage's women's swim team came home 25th in the country.

And our basketball team placed third in Illinois.

The members of all these teams have plenty of reason to be proud of themselves. They have brought pride here to College of DuPage. That's obviously where it belongs.

Talking transfer

Don Dame

During the year I have attended a number of conferences at four-year colleges and universities where I have been privileged to sit and talk with former College of DuPage students who have transferred. Nine out of 10 former CD students I have talked with said that if they had to do it all over again, they would again choose CD to begin their college education. All the former students I have talked with this year felt they were prepared to compete academically at the four-year school because of their training here.

The following are random comments from some former CD students who have transferred to four-year colleges and universities. Some of the comments apply only to the four-year school or CD, but I feel, based on feedback from former students at other four-year schools, that a majority of the comments are applicable no matter where you transfer:

"You better be able to read and write when you get down here (four-year school). All I do here is read, read, read and write reports and research papers."

"At CD, teachers really teach, and I liked that."

"I would recommend that CD students who transfer here spend their first year in a residence hall. My meals are all prepared for me, and I have met a lot of people by living in a residence hall. If I were living off campus, I think I would be isolated, plus I would lose a lot of time buying groceries, making meals, etc. I may live off campus my senior year, but I'm glad I didn't my first year here."

"First, I would like to say that I feel my two years at College of DuPage have been the best two years of school life and learning that I have experienced."

"Tell the students back at CD to get the A.A. degree. It sure saved me from a lot of hassles when I transferred." This statement is supported by national studies which indicate that students who attend a community college for two years and earn a degree tend to do better academically at four-year colleges and universities than those students who attend a community college for only one year.

"It's scary at first down here (four-year school) because it's a new place and a big place. But if you realize there are about 5,000 other new students who are just as scared as you are, it helps you get over the 'hump'. Once you get over the 'hump,' things start to make sense."

While I am talking with our former students who are at four-year schools, I have a tape recorder going to record the perceptions of their experiences at the transfer institutions, their thoughts concerning the transfer process, and also their feedback about their experiences at CD.

Copies of the discussion tapes are placed in the Planning Information Center for Students (PICS) in the Learning Resources Center (LRC) and the Student Assistance Center (Room 2012 in A Bldg.). Copies of the tapes are also sent to counselors.

Our former students who have transferred have many helpful hints to pass on to you via the discussion tapes. Their insights and suggestions could be of considerable help to you to complete your degree at the four-year school and/or make your transition from CD to the transfer school more comfortable.

Why not take some time soon to listen?

3 seats open, 4 candidates in April 12 Board election

Four candidates have filed for the three openings on the CD Board of Trustees.

One incumbent, Anthony M. Berardi of Downers Grove, is seeking reelection. Evelyn Zerfoss of Elmhurst and Ronald Miller of Hinsdale are vacating their Board posts.

The terms to be filled run for three years. The election is set for April 12 from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

The three new candidates are Diane K. Landry of Western Springs, Robert M. Callan of Glen Ellyn and James Zoda of Downers Grove.

Berardi, 38, was elected to the Board of Trustees three years ago. He has served on the Board-Staff Relations Negotiating Committee, has been chairman of the Finance Committee, and is a member of the Board Liaison Committee charged with interfacing of the board with the architect on the new Learning Resources Center Building.

An attorney, Berardi maintains an office in Downers Grove from which he practices law in the DuPage and Cook County areas. He also teaches business law as a part-time instructor at Joliet Junior College.

Berardi received his bachelor's degree in electrical engineering from Bradley University, Peoria; his master's in business administration from Indiana University, Bloomington, and his juris doctor from John Marshall Law School, Chicago.

A resident of Western Springs, Landry earned a B.S. degree in biology from the University of Illinois in 1969, a master's in microbiology from the same university in 1970, and a juris doctor from John Marshall Law School in 1979.

While working on her master's degree, Landry worked as a research assistant in the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine. In 1970, she joined G.D. Searle & Co., a pharmaceutical firm in Skokie, as a research assistant in neuropharmacology. In 1973, while still at Searle, she transferred to a position as a project management consultant which led to training in critical path methods and computer analysis of project planning.

This also led to an interest in business organization and structure.

Also, while still employed at Searle, Landry entered John Marshall Law School and attended the evening division from 1975 to 1979 receiving her J. D. degree in June of 1979.

Landry has authored and co-authored five publications and is a member of Sigma Delta Epsilon, a women's honorary science fraternity, and Project Management Institute which she served as a founding member and officer of the midwest chapter.

Currently Landry is assisting her husband in his law practice in Western Springs.

Callan, an 11-year resident of Glen Ellyn, is senior vice president and partner in the management consulting firm of Spencer Stuart & Associates, Chicago. He has more than 20 years of experience in personnel and industrial relations assignments in industry and has been a management consultant for the last 10 years.

A native of New York, he received a bachelor's degree in business administration from Fordham University and has an M.B.A. in management from New York University.

Callan, 43 is a member of the executive committee of the Business Advisory Council at the University of Illinois Circle Campus, the Industrial Relations Association of Chicago and has held a number of leadership positions in local homeowner associations, the Arboretum Area Planning Committee, and his local church.

Zoda is a broker and lives in Downers Grove. He received his bachelor's degree in math and his master's and Ph.D. degrees in economics from Northern Illinois University. Zoda, 38, taught junior high math for eight years and was in instructor in economics at NIU while working for his Ph.D.

Application for absentee ballots is now available. The last day to apply for an absentee ballot by mail is April 7. Application may also be made in person in K163 until April 11.

4-day week test this summer could be future pattern

The much talked about four-day work week is going to be given a trial run here this summer.

The college, which is in the process of reassessing its academic calendar, will attempt to assess the results once the four-day experiment has been completed at the end of the summer quarter.

The college calendar is being reviewed in order to find more efficient use of energy and of the physical facilities; to bring the school year in line with other institutions (CD is on the quarter system while many other schools are on semesters); and for a better use of student and faculty time in order to provide scheduling flexibility and opportunities for new or different program forms.

"Obviously, we don't expect to be able to experiment or evaluate all of these this summer," said Theodore Tilton, provost of the Main Campus, "but we do expect to gain some valuable information concerning student, faculty and staff attitudes toward this (four-day week), a realistic figure in terms of energy savings for both the school and the students who will be making 20 percent fewer trips to the college for classes, and learning the effects the longer days will have on productivity of the staff, how students are affected in terms of the condensed week, and how this will impact on their studies and their work."

Staff members who work in A Bldg. will be working four 10-hour days under the new schedule, while the faculty and students will put in extra time depending on the hours they would have had on the fifth day. That time will be spread over the four days with a percentage added to each class for lecture time.

During and after the experiment, which Tilton said should be a tremendous energy saver, the college's Planning and Research Office will conduct surveys, which will include class visitations in order to get the students' perceptions. The surveys are expected to allow the college to better assess what direction it should be moving in the future.

If the experiment is successful, there is a strong possibility it could be implemented into the regular school year.

Staff employed in the interim buildings on the west side of the campus will continue on a five-day schedule. Should any employee on the interim campus wish to work just four days, she or he may do so by making use of the following options:

1. Work four 10-hour days.
2. Work four eight-hour days with the fifth day off with no pay.
3. Work four eight-hour days with the fifth day off as a vacation day.
4. Work four nine hour days and four hours on the fifth day.

However, all of the college's services, such as registration, the Learning Resources Center, administration, financial aid and all others, will be open on a five-day-a-week basis to the public.

A successful four-day trial was used last summer by Waubensee Community College, west of Aurora. It was estimated that $3,500 was saved in energy costs for the four Fridays the school was closed. It is anticipated that at least $7,000 will be saved over this summer at Waubensee when the same plan will be in effect, but will cover eight Fridays.

According to John Murphy, Waubensee vice president of administration, the 10-hour day for staff, especially grounds personnel, proved too long and productivity went down. Therefore, this year the staff will work a 9½-hour day. In order to make up the extra time, staff members will contribute an eight-hour holiday and an eight-hour personal day while the college will contribute one eight-hour day in order to cover the 56 hours which have to be made up.

Murphy said it has been estimated that 633 gallons of gas were saved by the 160-165 full-time staff members by closing down on Fridays for four weeks. No total figure, which would include the faculty and students, is available.

Spacek captures character of 'Coal Miner's Daughter'

By Carol Smolla

Can Sissy Spacek, a petite, pretty actress, capture the intense soul of a divine country singer like Loretta Lynn and sing her heart out in a biographical film based on Lynn's own autobiography? The answer is yes. Coal Miner's Daughter proves this beyond a doubt.

Traditionally, biographical movies about singers or rock stars include fair reproductions of their famous hits, redone with attempts to capture the singer's gestures and mannerisms, clarity and style. However, many times the lead actor or actress chosen to portray the famous star tries too hard to capture a physical appearance and fails to grasp the singer's personality.

The exception, though, is Sissy Spacek. Because of her young, innocent, naturally pretty face, Spacek slides easily into the character of the early Loretta Lynn, who grew up a poor coal miner's daughter in the Southern foothills. As the character of Lynn grows into a successful national country singer, her personality blossoms and Spacek is able to magnify these changes artistically and confidently.

NOTE OF THANKS

Dear friends,

I would like to express my deepest thanks to all my friends and fellow workers here at the college for all the nice cards, notes, contributions and condolences for my dad who passed away recently. My mother and sister also thank each and every one for attending and sharing their sympathy. They both agree — I have many good friends here.

Thanks again,
Bob Barron

Butterflies on display in LRC

Lenore Udesen, a clerk in the Learning Resources Center, has had a love affair with butterflies for 31 years. It started with a small enameled orange butterfly pin, a gift from her mother.

That one pin has evolved into hundreds of butterflies gracing pictures, books, ceramics, jewelry, towels, scarves, a tote bag, Christmas ornaments and many, many more items that are currently on display in the LRC.

Her tote bag, which is a gift from her co-workers, bears the inscription "Love is like a butterfly. It goes wherever it pleases and pleases wherever it goes."

"There is not a room in my home without one in some form or another," said Udesen, a resident of Lombard. They may be found on her dotted swiss kitchen curtains, as napkin holders, designed into two crocheted pieces, on a paper weight, books and pins.

Udesen is a gardener and in her yard there is, of course, a butterfly bush (buddleia davidii) which attracts Monarch butterflies.

Udesen, whose trademark is a butterfly placed somewhere on her attire, is concerned that the butterfly may someday go the way that so many things in nature have.

"I hope the day will never come when we won't have them," she said.

How A Bldg. fire alarms work

By Larry Corley

When spotting a fire, "first call for help, then go and try to fight the fire, if you're able to."

This advice is from Tom Usry, campus security chief, and considering CD's capabilities, it's the only sensible thing to do.

Following is a list of the precautionary measures CD has taken to increase safety and decrease the hazards of fire:

Fire alarm boxes are available throughout the halls. When pulled, a metal tip breaks a glass rod and the emergency horn is sounded. A signal is immediately received at a control board downstairs which shows the location where the alarm was pulled. The horns will stay on until the problem is solved.

Stairwell and hall doors, which are held back magnetically, automatically close after the alarm. There are two sets of fire-repellent doors in the east/west halls. These doors can easily be opened by anyone seeking an exit from the building, simply by pushing (or pulling). As a safety precaution, you should put your hand against the door before opening to check the heat and to determine whether it is safe to pass through.

Also, the courtyard vents, outside A Bldg., which are used to bring in air, filter it, and send it through the building, via giant air blowers, go on automatic stop to prevent fanning the fire, and thus spreading it.

With power off, only emergency lighting remains by exits and selected points in the hallway. There are also red flashing lights in various places for deaf students.

If the cause is not found within a minute to a minute and a half after the alarm is pulled, a call is made to the Glen Ellyn Fire Department.

After an alarm is pulled, everything must be turned back on and reset manually.

"False alarms are time consuming and costly," Usry stated, "and the time it takes to reset everything varies, depending on how many maintenance men are present at that particular time."

In addition to this, there is a sprinkler system located throughout the building, with the sprinkler heads located approximately 12 feet apart on the ceiling of each hall. When the temperature reaches 160 degrees, the fire pump automatically comes on, releasing water through the sprinkler at a rate of 60 gallons per minute.

The hallways are also equipped with fire extinguishers and 1 1/2 inch hoses. There is a 2 1/2 inch valve for the fire department to attach hoses, if necessary.

Usry said a P. A. system might prove valuable because students could be warned and given directions in other emergencies, such as a tornado.

Scuba club eager for springtime

By Tom King

The hot sun felt good on his back. The scuba diver looked out across the endless ocean, across the crystal blue waters of Florida. "Beats the ponds at CD," the CD Scuba Club member would undoubtedly say.

The club now has 12 active members but should have more this spring, according to Albert Zamsky, club adviser.

"The Scuba Club is down now because it's winter. Who thinks of scuba diving in Illinois anyway? Sometimes the club has more than 20 members, usually in the spring. It will pick up again," he said.

"Early spring is the best time for diving. The water is still pretty clear, and has a higher visibility. In the summer the water heats up making it cloudy," said Zamsky.

The campus ponds are silt bottomed. They are not the best place to dive, but serve as a good way to check the equipment, according to Zamsky.

For some real good diving the club has gone to other locations in the Midwest area. The Club has taken trips to Racine Quarry, Door County, Devils Lake, and Lake Geneva.

Many scuba courses are offered here. There are classes in the Alpha One studies, PE, and through Biology. CD has an underwater photography class, an oceanography class, and a scuba class offered through PE to teach the basics.

If you have any questions on how to get involved with Scuba Club activities, call Zamsky at ext. 2318, or see him at his office at A2113C.

Duncan takes 2nd at national finals

By Tom Nelson

Close only counts in horseshoes.

If it counted in wrestling, the Chaps could easily have improved their 16th place finish in the NJCAA finals at Worthington, Minn. on March 5-9.

"A couple of breaks and a few more points and we would have been in the top ten," Coach Al Kaltofen said.

Even though the team didn't do as well as they expected, there was still reason to stand up and cheer for the DuPage grapplers as John Duncan grabbed second place in the nation at 118 pounds. After four straight wins in the 118-pound bracket, Duncan fell to Tim Smelzer of Muskegon, Michigan in the championship match.

"The strange thing about wrestling is that John beat a guy (Dave Fisher of Cuyahoga West, Ohio) who crushed Smelzer last week," Kaltofen added. Duncan pinned Fisher in the second period of their match.

"It was a bad match. I don't think I ever wrestled that bad in a match," Duncan said. "When you get that far, everybody is tough, and if you make a mistake, they can beat you."

Duncan, a native of Wheaton and a graduate of Wheaton North, hails from a wrestling family. He and his brother Steve have provided the nucleus for the wrestling team this season.

With his dad a wrestler at Wheaton Central and Northwestern University, it was only natural that John and his brother Scott would start early on the mats. John's first organized wrestling came at the junior high level. He then progressed to the point where he made two trips downstate during his junior and senior years in high school and placed in the state tournament in his senior year.

Since many of the team members were from the Wheaton area, Duncan felt it was easier for the team to become just that, a team.

"The team was real close, and it made winning a lot easier," Duncan said.

Another thing Duncan pointed to was the prowess of his mentor Kaltofen, who worked his wrestlers toward the national finals. According to Duncan, Kaltofen had the wrestlers reaching their peaks at the end of the season instead of in the middle. This might be the reason behind the slow start the team got off to.

"We all reached our peaks at the end of the season, which was good," Duncan added.

"We had five guys go into the tournament. Two got beaten in the first round. We should have been in the top ten," Duncan said.

Only John made it past the second round. Scott Duncan, who had pinned his last 13 foes at 142 pounds, pinned his first opponent in the tournament but lost in the second round. Steve Helmick also won his first at 177 pounds, but lost his second. Heavyweights Kurt Buehler and Pat Kane were both eliminated in the opening round of the tournament.

John Duncan was in a field of 32 at the tournament which represented 90-100 schools in the nation.

"There are quite a few studs in junior colleges. The level of competition is as good as Division III," John Duncan said.

Duncan is in his first year at CD and hopes to return next year to revenge his loss at the national finals. Right now he is not sure where he will go for his last two years of college, but if he wrestles in college, he would prefer a small school to one of the large wrestling factories like Iowa.

"I like the smaller atmosphere. That provides a closer team. I like to have a close team and it provides for a better team."

Gymnasts finish 8th

Paced by an outstanding performance by Sue Waldschmidt, the College of DuPage women's gymnastics team finished eighth in the recent National Junior College Athletic Association gymnastics championships.

Waldschmidt, who finished ninth in the nation on the uneven parallel bars with a score of 7.5, placed 15th in the all-around scoring with a total of 28.20. Her performance helped carry DuPage to its best finish ever in the national tournament.

"It was a very competitive meet," said DuPage Coach Kim Rushford. "The girls were very nervous, but I never had any worries about their ability to compete at that level."

Spokane, Washington, won the meet with 98.95 points, followed by Jefferson State of Alabama (91.90), Glendale Community College of New York (89.80), Odessa, Tex (88.90), Nassau, N.Y. (88.20), Southern Arkansas (87.25), host Essex, Md. (85.40), and College of DuPage (82.35).

Other colleges in the 15-team field included Triton, which finished 11th with 73.25 points, and Harper, which placed 12th with 70.10. Harper had won the Illinois optional championships in late February while Triton was second and DuPage third.

"There was no doubt in my mind that we'd finish ahead of Triton and Harper," Rushford stated. "The balance beam (at nationals) was our second-best event. We could have won the state title if we had done that well in the state tournament."

Palmieri needs softball players

Head softball coach Joe Palmieri is still looking for members for his 1980 women's softball team. Anyone who is interested in going out should contact Palmieri at his office in A1100C or call ext. 2362.

Palmieri said any interested softball players can report to the gym at 2 p.m. daily in order to get in contact with him.

Sports

By Tom Nelson

Well, it finally happened. It took a few years but CD finally has a national champion to brag about, and a most unlikely champion it is.

Coming out of the flatlands of Illinois, one would expect the basketball or wrestling team to take the first national title. But the CD hockey team went into the center of American Hockey and showed them that Illinois plays hockey, too.

"It's quite a feat to come here into hockey country and win it," Coach Bob Johnson of the University of Wisconsin said after the game. "I'm certainly glad I came up here to watch it."

Goalie Tom Adrahtas said, "Illinois — that's the great thing about it. We're a block away from the Hockey Hall of Fame and we win it all."

Adrahtas pointed out this difference between Illinois and Minnesota hockey: "Minnesota players tend to release their shots quicker and be better skaters. The difference between Rainy River and us was that we were the better team." . . .

Cagers Chuck Hudson and Kent Katterjohn were named to the second team all-conference team while Billy Carter was named to the third string. Joel May received honorable mention . . .

Gal swimmers place 28th at finals

With only two swimmers heading south to the NJCAA finals at Ft. Pierce, Fla., recently, the DuPage women's swim team placed 28th in the nation.

Fighting the awesome power of the Florida schools, Erin Gray finished 10th in both the one- and the three-meter diving events, and Carol Miller placed 15th in the 200-yard butterfly to round out the Duper scoring thrust.

"Both of our girls scored and we were pleased with that," Coach Al Zamsky said.

Walking away with the title this year was Daytona Beach with 676 points while runner-up Indian River had 579. Maureen Loth of Daytona Beach broke four national records and won every race she competed in to anchor the Daytona Beach attack.

The Dupers also claimed this year's state swimming title by defeating Lincoln 75-36. Firsts in the meet went to Lorraine Thomas in the 200-yard medley and 100-yard breaststroke, and Sue Scanlan in the 200-yard backstroke. The 400-yard freestyle relay team of Scanlan, Sue Peterson, and Gray captured first in the state, while Gray took first in the one- and three-meter diving.

"We swam well and turned in some personal best times," said Al Zamsky, coach of both the men's and women's teams. "Florida puts up tough competition, but we turned in two good meets."

Batmen lose downstate

Picking up where it left off last year, the College of DuPage baseball team opened the 1980 season with two losses to state power Lake Land College last weekend by scores of 9-4 and 4-2.

Pitcher Bob Braem opened the first game and immediately surrendered a home run to Lake Land left fielder Dan Furniss. A four-run second inning put Lake Land ahead to stay, courtesy of four DuPage errors and four unearned runs.

Third baseman Mark Montgomery, one of the six returning players, committed two consecutive errors in the crucial second inning that led to Lake Land's 9-4 first-game victory. He did bounce back on offense, however, collecting two of DuPage's seven hits.

Right fielder Steve Zotto, who hit .368 during his freshman season, went two for four in the first game with a two-run homer.

Pitcher Tony Malia performed well in relief of Braem, allowing only two hits and one run in the final four innings.

The DuPage offense was silent in the second Lake Land game, collecting only two hits in the 4-2 loss.

DuPage claims title

Although the offense deserves its honors, the defense came through with shining colors throughout the tourney. Besides the usual fine play of Fitzmaurice, Mike Serafin, and Kirk Lehman, Chris Lewers and Frank Novak played the game of their lives in the final game against Rainy River.

Lehman, who had been hurting going up to the tournament, and two other Chaparrals, were treated at the University of Minnesota training room when the team practiced there with the Gophers.

"We came up there with three of them hurt and their (Minnesota's) training facilities helped us get them ready for the finals," Coach Salberg remarked.

Another surprise for the Chaps was the power their third line displayed in the tournament.

Besides the goals, the line gave the team the rest it needed going into the final minutes when the first two lines would be out on the ice most of the time.

"The third line came through for us," goalie Ron Balance said. "We had the depth."

Adrahtas added, "We couldn't have won it without them."

The effects of winning the title still have not hit many of the players but the overall feeling was knowing that they were national champs.

"It's a great feeling. Most athletes never play on a championship team and I'm proud to be a part of it," goalie Dave Halperin confided.

Defenseman Jeff Ellis praised the CD supporters at the game. "If we didn't have our fans there, it might have been a different story. They were great."

Chap runners 15th at NJCAA finals

Accumulating the highest point total ever for a DuPage track team, CD runners placed 15th in the nation in the recent National Junior College Athletic Association championships at University of Missouri.

New Mexico Junior College took the team title with 75 points, followed by a neighboring community college from Santa Fe, which scored 61. Illinois indoor state champion Parkland was fifth with 24 points, while the Chaps collected 14 points.

"This is the best performance we've ever turned in at indoor nationals," stated DuPage Coach Ron Ottoson. "We had the potential to do even better, but this was still an excellent showing."

Mark Rau finished third in the nation in the 600-yard dash with a time of 1:11.5, and Tom Fieweger placed second in the shot put with a toss of 50-9.

Perhaps the greatest disappointment for DuPage was the finish of highly-regarded high jumper Jim Sokolowski. The sophomore, who has broken the seven-foot barrier several times this year, was nursing a bad back for several weeks prior to the competition and had not practiced. He finished sixth with a leap of 6-8. Teammate Ed Foreman also jumped 6-8.

The distance medley relay team of DuPage, which Ottoson had hoped might score some points in the meet, was knocked out of the race early when leadoff runner Joe Newhouse was bumped and knocked down at a turn.

Dave Patrick of Parkland College, who won the 600-yard run over Rau, was named the most valuable player of the national meet.

Tankers place 12th

Competing against some awesome teams from Florida, College of DuPage's men's swimming teams represented the Chicagoland area well March 6-8, placing 12th in the nation in the National Junior College Athletic Association Tournament in Ft. Pierce, Fla.

Sophomore John Sullivan earned All-American honors by placing third in the 200-yard breaststroke event. He also finished fifth in the 100-yard breaststroke, swam on the 11th-place medley relay team and on the 13th-place 800-yard freestyle relay team.

Indian River, Fla., won the men's meet with 719 points while Daytona Beach College was second with 673, over 300 points ahead of the nearest competitor. DuPage finished with 58 points. Other teams from Illinois in the meet included No. 9 Triton with 106 points and No. 24 Lincoln with zero points.

Sullivan was joined on the medley relay team by sophomores Jeff Speir and Walt Brun and freshman Steve Krenek. He swam on the 800-yard freestyle relay team with Brun, Speir and freshman Brian Billing.

Icers bring home NJCAA title

By Tom Nelson

Virginia, Minn. — With the chants of "COD! COD!" echoing from the stands, the Chaparral hockey team squeezed past the Rainy River Voyageurs 8-7 to bring home the first national athletic title for DuPage.

The game saw the icers fight back from a 6-3 deficit to capture the coveted title.

"Desire . . . we had plenty of excuses to give up but we didn't," MVP goalie Tom Adrahtas said. "We were the team with the power to blow them off the ice but we did enough to win."

After Rainy River came out and scored two quick goals in the first period, it looked like their 5-2 win over reigning champion Canton was no fluke.

But, with two minutes remaining in the first period, center Rich Balance with assists from Don Niestrom and E.J. Clark drew the first blood for CD.

Going into the second period, the Chaps looked like they might recover from the early blow as winger Mike Schrader's slap shot took a DuPage bounce and was tipped in by winger John Mannion at 15:57.

After Rainy River scored again, the Chaps tied up the score as Schrader took a blue line to blue line pass from winger Gary Garafola and blew a slapper past the Voyageur goalie to knot up the score at 3-3.

But then the dam broke and Rainy River deluged the nets and scored three unanswered goals within seven minutes. With the inspired play of Barry Woods of Rainy River leading them on, the score stood at 6-3 going into the second half of the game.

The Chaps took advantage of a powerplay and brought the deficit to within two after Brad Saban and Clark set up Balance in front of the net to score his second goal of the night.

With the CBS and MnM line producing as usual, the third line of Schrader, Garafola, and George Zabron gave the first two lines the vital rest time they needed.

To end the second period, Mike Murphy took a pass from Saban to score on a Rainy River power play to bring the Chaps to within one. The team was starting to fire up the old third period reserve engine at the end of the second period. The closing minutes saw the Chaps hitting the open man and passing with authority.

But DuPage let it slip and Rainy River scored on a rebound in front of the net at 16:57 of the third period.

Adrahtas put up his invisible force shield and held the Voyageurs at bay for the rest of the game. With Adrahtas playing like a fiend, his offense took control of the game.

Niestrom tallied at 12:15 with an assist from Murphy to pull the team to within one. With defenseman Bill Fitzmaurice in the penalty box, Murphy stole the puck from a surprised Rainy River defender to tie up the game with five minutes remaining.

At 2:10 Balance put the icing on the cake for DuPage as he scored on a second attempt tip-in to put the Chaps up by one, which proved to be all the Chaps needed.

To get to the final round, the Chaps defeated Mesabi College 5-4 in their first game. Chaparral goals were scored by Saban, Niestrom, Clark, and Balance.

As the final buzzer went off in the game against Rainy River, Coach Herb Salberg turned to his assistant Ed Planert and said, "The biggest dream in my life has just come true."

The celebration began as the final seconds ticked off and only stopped when DuPage received its trophy and Niestrom, Balance and Adrahtas were selected to the All-tournament team. Adrahtas was also named the tournament's MVP for the second year in a row. To achieve this award Adrahtas turned away 53 shots in the first game and 47 in the final game against Rainy River.

Cagers capture third with Blackhawk win

Danville, Ill. — Never predictable but always exciting, the 1979-80 basketball season ended on a disappointing note for CD as the Chaparrals emerged from the recent state tournament in Danville with the third-place consolation trophy.

Surprising everyone but themselves, the Chaps dumped Kishwaukee (104-84) and Joliet (68-61) in probably the toughest sectional in the state to gain admittance to the state tournament. In other sectionals, top-ranked Kankakee and Triton were eliminated, making DuPage the No. 1 seed entering the competition.

The Chaps started out in championship form, beating the Lake County Lancers, 80-70. They jumped out to a 43-20 lead with five minutes to go in the first half and were never headed. Balanced scoring was provided by three sophomores: guard Billy Carter, forward Joel May and center Kent Katterjohn, all of whom tossed in 18 points.

The Lancers gamely tried to make a comeback in the second half, narrowing the margin to seven (63-56) with 10:38 left in the game, but DuPage Coach Don Klaas managed to regroup his squad in time to prevent any serious damage.

The Chaps held a narrow rebounding lead (31 to 29) and turned the ball over more than Lake County (24 to 18), including 17 DuPage turnovers in a sloppy second half, but DuPage was much more accurate from the field. Both teams connected for 33 field goals, but the Chaps accomplished this with 52 shots compared to 74 for the Lancers.

The scoring difference was made up at the charity stripe, where DuPage hit on 14 of 23 while Lake County made good on four of five free throws.

An under-rated Lincoln College team was DuPage's opponent in the semi-final round, coming off a 63-57 win over Lake Land. The Chaparrals were not as close, falling 87-74 to the eventual state champions.

DuPage played well, but Coach Klaas and crew ran into a buzzsaw in the form of the Lynx. The Chaps hit on 30 of 56 shots from the field and 14 of 21 free throws, but Lincoln retaliated with 35 of 56 from the field and 17 of 24 from the free throw line.

As a team, Lincoln was quicker and deeper than DuPage. Lincoln breezed out to a 45-26 halftime lead, and when May and Carter fouled out in the closing minutes, DuPage's fate was sealed.

A one-man army in the person of 6-5 forward Fred Watkins paced Lincoln with 26 points (13 of 16 from the field) and 17 rebounds — only one less rebound than the entire DuPage team. Eddie Jones, a 6-4 forward from Lincoln, contributed 24 points as he connected on 12 of 16 field goal attempts.

Katterjohn was again the scoring leader for the Chaps, hitting on six of six from the field and seven of eight from the free throw line for 19 points. Carter added 15, May 14, and freshman guard Chuck Hudson scored 13 in the losing effort.

Instead of playing in the championship game on the final day, as they had for the past two years, the Chaps were relaxed and poised as they faced Black Hawk East in the consolation game. Paced by Katterjohn's 26 points and 11 rebounds, DuPage ended the tournament on a positive note with an 88-67 rout of the Warriors.

Like the Lincoln game, DuPage's win over Black Hawk was never close. Hudson controlled both ends of the court with 20 points and superb defense, while Carter bombed the Warriors from the outside for 12 points. May and freshman forward Dave Pease each added 10 points to the winning cause.

Defenseman Bill Fitzmaurice pays for his national title with a few bumps and bruises delivered to him by one of Rainy River's skaters. After setting it as one of their pre-season goals, the Chaps played the games of their lives to reach the top in junior college hockey.
