

Fall 12-1-2014

Artificial

Bree Scott
College of DuPage

Follow this and additional works at: <http://dc.cod.edu/plr>

Recommended Citation

Scott, Bree (2014) "Artificial," The Prairie Light Review: Vol. 37: No. 1, Article 13.
Available at: <http://dc.cod.edu/plr/vol37/iss1/13>

This Selection is brought to you for free and open access by the College Publications at DigitalCommons@COD. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Prairie Light Review by an authorized administrator of DigitalCommons@COD. For more information, please contact koteles@cod.edu.

ARTIFICIAL

Feeling good today the sun's glimmering like little jewels in stale light though the wind is brutally cold I don't mind it at all letting things roll off my sleeve like water droplets on green leaves in a breeze have nothing to think about nothing to worry about just the free feeling I was given today and though I wonder if this feeling is artificial hand crafted by brain power in a lab in the form of a peach tablet smaller than a pea is this me I don't know maybe it's a new me ready to take on the world but I can't help but be afraid that maybe I was better off the way I was because it was all I knew now I'm steadfast on a journey of becoming something new uncharted territory discovering things maybe eyes were not meant to see like riches at the bottom of the sea but I take a long look around and my environment is augmented in ways that I cannot explain color is beautiful people are happier because hey I'm happier and though the definition of happiness is different for some I think that this is what it is for me and the help I needed to get here was all that I need.