

Spring 5-1-2017

Stay Away

Amy Peter
College of DuPage

Follow this and additional works at: <http://dc.cod.edu/plr>

Recommended Citation

Peter, Amy (2017) "Stay Away," The Prairie Light Review: Vol. 39 : No. 2 , Article 58.
Available at: <http://dc.cod.edu/plr/vol39/iss2/58>

This Selection is brought to you for free and open access by the College Publications at DigitalCommons@COD. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Prairie Light Review by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@COD. For more information, please contact koteles@cod.edu.

Stay Away

Not a small smile not a quick hello not even a passing glance.
Don't look or speak in my direction my regretful failed romance.
To see you fills my eyes with tears to hear you puts my stomach in a knot.
If you think time has healed our wounds, it has not.
I don't think about you anymore or miss you constantly but if I saw you or heard you it might all come back to me.
So please my past love
my first heartbreak
Stay away.
For my sanity's sake.

Choking

Choking on the lies I tell myself
The lies I can't help but believe Choking on the tears
The tears that fall for no reason at all Choking on the fear
The constant fear of being misunderstood Choking on the bad feelings
The bad feelings that take over Choking on the good feelings
The feelings depression won't let me feel Choking on the air
The air anxiety won't let me breathe freely Choking, always choking
Mental illness grabs me by the throat and won't let go
It leaves me in an everyday battle gasping for air
Some days I win, some days I lose Strangled by my thoughts
Choking