Unpredictable

Jasmine Meza
College of DuPage

Follow this and additional works at: http://dc.cod.edu/plr

Recommended Citation
Available at: http://dc.cod.edu/plr/vol40/iss1/24

This Selection is brought to you for free and open access by the College Publications at DigitalCommons@COD. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Prairie Light Review by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@COD. For more information, please contact orenick@cod.edu.
Unpredictable
Jasmine Meza

We can go to the park
We can hide in the yellow slides
We can lay on the wood chips as we fall for eternity
We can go swing back and forth to oblivion
We can follow this stranger
We can get kidnapped

We can go home
We can go take a nap in a forgetful mattress
We can rest our heads on these sinkable pillows
We can never wake up

We can try a new restaurant
We can try different foods we have never encountered
We can choke on the food

We can go to the pool
We can go swimming underwater
We can play the game who can hold their breath the longest
We can drown

We can go driving
We can go speeding as we don’t have our seat belts on
We can listen to the increasingly loud honks telling us to stop
We can stare into the bright blinding lights shining in our direction
We can get in a car crash

We can’t live our lives in fear
We can only live by taking risks
As there will always be that uncertainty in everything we do
Life is just never predictable