MY DOG'S NOSE IS TOO FLUFFY

Jonathan M. Vick

My dolphin's fins are too yellow.
My parakeet's beak is too square.
My ferret's fur is too crumbly.
My monkey just doesn't care.
My iguana's lips are too chapped.
My rhinoceros stopped being horny.
My giraffe's spinal cord is too short.
My crows refuse to be corny.
All the creatures with whom I live
Are changing beyond recognition.
They are making me re-think myself
And rearrange my mind's whole position.
