MY LAST CROWDFUND

The world has taken a bite out of me like the apple I discarded last week.
I'm fine for now but soon the maggots will come,
and I'm scared
of what they might do.

The doctors can fill my empty space for a "low" price with one too many zeros on the wrong side of the decimal place.
A mandatory surgery, I thought,
but the permanent loss of that part is quite common, Survivable.

"It isn't covered," the insurance man said,
"Bet you wish the world got you at a different angle."
Please donate to my medical expenses
