

The Prairie Light Review

Volume 44
Number 2 Spring 2022

Article 22

Spring 5-1-2022

Tiger Lilly

Linnea Sardina
College of DuPage

Follow this and additional works at: <https://dc.cod.edu/plr>

Recommended Citation

Sardina, Linnea (2022) "Tiger Lilly," The Prairie Light Review: Vol. 44: No. 2, Article 22.
Available at: <https://dc.cod.edu/plr/vol44/iss2/22>

This Artwork is brought to you for free and open access by the College Publications at DigitalCommons@COD. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Prairie Light Review by an authorized editor of DigitalCommons@COD. For more information, please contact orenick@cod.edu.

An Orange Tragedy
Becky Lindhardt

Nothing rhymes with orange, which I find very strange.
With all the rhymes in the world, there should be a wide range.
The fruit may be nutritious,
and the color is delicious,
but anyone who tries to rhyme it is probably deranged.

Is there a way to move around, a way to rearrange?
Can we redo the alphabet and find letters to exchange?
No... that is too ambitious...
Nothing rhymes with orange.

What can we do to fix this err, so we may make a change?
For all the words that do not rhyme, in which orange is estranged.
It's lonely and malicious,
to help would be judicious.
Because here lies the disappointment of this very age:
Nothing rhymes with orange.

Tiger Lilly, Linnea Sardina

